DETECTIVE IS KILLED BY CHICAGO GUNMAN

Gangster Escapes After Shooting But Is Found Later in Apartment.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24. (AP)—A detective gave his life in Chicago's fight on crime today, but not before he had seen three bullets into the body of his assailant, wounding the latter fatally.

The detective, John J. Ryan, was slain as he struggled with Joseph Fallon, a convict, under indictment for robbery. Fallon fled in a car after the shooting, but, on the city driver's direction, he was located in a west side apartment late today. The man was too weak to resist and was taken to the jail hospital.

Another death, as a result of today's fighting, was that of Joseph Sarnowski, who was killed in a feud clash between Mexicans and Poles.

Otherwise the drive on crime fared both good and bad. Colonel Robert Isham Randolph, head of the Association of Commerce's "secret" committee, received assurance from one citizen that he would back the battle against the racketeers to the extent of $100,000. The name of the citizen was not revealed.

In the courts police and prosecutors got the short end, George "Red" Baker, alleged racketeer and business agent of Coal Drivers' Union, who is under indictment for gun toting, was discharged on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was arrested a second time Saturday after a long automobile chase. The judge said he should have been booked for speeding and dismissed him.

Jack McGurn, purported machine gunner for Al Capone, and his bodyguard, Tony Accardo, were absent when their cases were called in court on charges of carrying concealed weapons. They have been indicted on the same charges. Bonds of $1,000 each were ordered for their arrest.

Coolidge Receives Threatening Letter

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24. (AP)—Former President Calvin Coolidge received a letter here today warning him that an eastern gunman had come west with the intention of taking his life. The letter asked Mr. Coolidge to "be careful and protect yourself" and added "I will pray for you and remain your friend."

The letter was turned over to a bodyguard who stood beside the former president as he opened his mail. He and Mrs. Coolidge returned here last night from a week-end trip to Santa Barbara. Mr. Coolidge showed no concern over the letter, associates said. He merely raised his eyebrows and said to the bodyguard:

"I guess this belongs to you."

Two initials composed the signature. Police withheld them from publication pending investigation. They believed the missive was the work of a crank.

The Coolidges are visiting in southern California as "tourists."

Southern Farmers' Aid Bill Is Passed by Lower House

Georgia and 14 Other States Will Be Benefited by $7,000,000 Fertilizer and Seed Loans.

BY FRANCIS W. CLARKE.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The lower house today passed the Smith bill under which the farmers of Georgia and 14 other states will have the use of a loan fund of $7,000,000 in financing the purchase of seed, fertilizer and feed in connection with the planting of this year's crop.

which several members of the Georgia delegation took part. While the senate has already passed the bill, it will have to go to conference before going to the White House for the president's signature, as the house today adopted several amendments. More than $2,000,000 was borrowed from a similar fund set up by the government last year.

The opening address on the bill was made by Representative Charles R. Crisp, of the third district, who pointed out that under the similar loan fund which was set up last year thousands of farmers in the southeast were enabled to make a living who otherwise would have been upon the verge of starvation.

Following his address the introduction of amendments caused the parliamentary flurry which at times threw the entire house into an uproar, with charges and counter-charges being thrown back and forth regardless of party alignment.

At one time during the excitement Representative Brand, of the eighth district, who is of very slight stature, marched down one of the aisles upon a large and perturbed member of the delegation from another state, with the vehement statement that "what you said wasn't so."

As passed by the senate recently the measure authorized an appropriation of only $6,000,000, which was to be made available only to farmers and fruit growers of Georgia, Florida, Alabama, North and South Carolina and Virginia. Before issuing a report, however, the house agricultural committee increased the appropriation to $7,000,000 and extended the bill's scope to cover the additional states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana and New Mexico.

When the measure was brought up for consideration today middle western elements after a spirited discussion, succeeded in passing an amendment extending its scope further to include the states of Missouri and Oklahoma, bringing the total number of states involved up to 15. An effort to increase the appropriation by $500,000 to take care of the two additional commonwealths was defeated, which means that less money will be available in the southeastern states than originally contemplated.

Identical Bill.
The bill is identical in purpose to one passed by congress last year, setting up a $6,000,000 fund for farmers and fruit growers of the southeastern states who suffered injury to crops because of flood conditions of the year previous. A repetition of flood conditions later combined with the important aid which the temporary loans gave to farmers, caused southern members to offer bills extending the provisions of the legislation to this year's crop.

As the first member of the lower house to introduce a bill on the subject during the special session of congress last summer, Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Georgia, was assigned the task of presenting the measure to the chamber when consideration was taken up today. In a brief speech he outlined the purpose of the legislation and urged that no further delay be permitted in taking a final vote. Members of the house were warned by the Georgia congressman that unless action was forthcoming soon it would be too late to render any substantial aid in financing spring planting operations.

Answering a charge made on the floor by Representative P. H. La Guardia, republican, of New York, that the federal government would not collect back a cent of the proposed $7,000,000 loan fund, Representative Crisp retorted hotly that the government had already been paid back approximately 80 per cent of $6,000,000 provided last year.

90 Per Cent Paid Back.
Georgia, he said, had paid back 90 per cent of the amount going there. "Following the flood conditions of 1928," said Crisp, "the congress stepped in and created a fund for the temporary relief of farmers and fruit growers whose crops had been injured by such floods. These loans were provided to meet an emergency situation which private banking institutions were unable to handle at the time."

"Last year," he continued, "saw a repetition of this condition with resulting damage to farmers, equal if not greater than the year before and bringing about the same distressing situation."

"Unless some relief is forthcoming soon the people of these sections will be unable to make a crop this year." Representative Crisp told the house that "a serious condition and not a theory confronts congress." The United States government, he asserted, has extended financial aid from time to time to railroads, reclamation projects and to Porto Rico pointing out that the proposed loan involved no new policy or precedent.

The house was prepared to make short order of the bill after the initial Crisp speech, it appeared, by an amendment offered by a new member from Missouri, Representative Short, seeking to have his state included, started a rumormongering for an hour and three quarters. This amendment inspired an Oklahoma member to offer a similar measure affecting his state and in the end both were adopted, the house at the same time declining to approve an increase of $500,000 in the funds.

Larsen Objects.
During the debate on the Missouri amendment a hot colloquy took place involving Representative W. W. Larsen, of Dublin.

Defending the amendment offered by Representative Short, Representative Lozier, democrat, of Missouri, aroused the ire of Representative Brand by charging that no evidence was taken by the agricultural committee during hearings on the bill to show that Georgia or any other of the southeastern states was in dire need of funds.

Jumping to his feet Representative Brand denounced the statement as false and even after the gavel of the presiding officer restored order the Georgia member turned his face and addressing the Missouri congressman, shouted:

"What you have said wasn't true, and you should know it."

Representative Larsen, himself a member of the agricultural committee, then gained the floor and denounced the allegations made by Lozier.

"The gentleman from Missouri has never read the record of the hearings," said Representative Larsen; "he never appeared before the committee, and he never made any effort to ascertain the facts, or he would not make the statement he has just made. The committee went into the matter thoroughly and sufficient evidence of this will be found in the record by any one who is interested enough to read it."

Canada Lifts Ban.
ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Apparently satisfied that existing quarantine regulations on shipments of citrus from Florida protect Canada against the danger of Mediterranean fruit fly infestation, the Canadian government has withdrawn the additional restrictions on the products of this state which it had been maintaining, according to word received today by the federal fruit fly board.

YEGGMEN BUSY HERE

Get $150 Loot and Cause Damage of $100.

Detectives Monday were seeking clues by which they hope to bring about the arrest of yeggmen, evidently professionals, who did $100 damage in one place and took $150 in cash from another.

They knocked the combination off a safe at the Stearns Coal Company, 1824 Murphy avenue, gained entrance to the strong box and took approximately $150 in cash early Sunday. Detectives thought probably a different crowd blew the safe of the Superior Laundry Company, 688 West Peachtree street, got only a small amount of cash, scattered shirts, towels and sheets on the floor, and caused damage of approximately $100.

Gets Complete Relief From Terrible Gas Pains That Cut Like a Knife

Are Your Symptoms Like Hers?

HERE is the story of a woman that every sufferer of stomach troubles ought to make it a point to read. A victim of terrible agony for 10 years she tells about the simple treatment that ended all her troubles in just a short time.

Like many local women, Mrs. Mary Ogle is so grateful for her release from a life of pain she wants everyone to be helped and so tells her story: "I have always said and always will say that Tanlac saved my life. Few people have suffered as I have with stomach troubles in the last 10 years. The gas nearly kills me. I would be deathly sick and in bed sometimes for weeks at a time. My stomach was sore all the time, the gas would form and collect right in the side and cut like a knife, I had to call in doctors. They said gall stones and gall bladder. Sour stomach and gases almost choked me to death and bothered my heart. Meat and potatoes were forbidden. I spent lots of money but my suffering increased instead of getting better. Certainly a harder task could not have been found for Tanlac, yet this medicine has succeeded and as I said, saved my life. My stomach troubles have yielded, I have a good digestion and best of all is relief from gases. I eat everything and gained so much in strength that I look like a different person. In best health in 10 years, that expresses it and tells the story of what Tanlac has done for me." Just the first dose or two of Tanlac will bring relief that will amaze you. Tanlac is a real medicine based on modern medical science. Like everything good it has its weak and ineffective imitations. So do not accept a substitute. Tanlac must help you or money back. At all druggists.

City Completes First Day In New $1,000,000 Building

Business Brisk in AU Departments as Doors of City Hall Are Swung Wide.

The borough of Atlanta Monday celebrated its first day in its new home, when doors of the new $1,000,000 city hall were opened for business and to the public at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Members of the city planning commission have the distinction of holding the first regular and scheduled meeting in the new structure, gathering at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The insurance committee of council followed with a session shortly thereafter, at 3 o'clock.

At the planning commission session the following changes from dwelling house to business restrictions were voted: The southeast corner of Martin and Bass streets; the southwest corner of Eugenia and Ira streets and the southwest corner of Bass and Capitol avenue.

A petition for changing the dwelling house restrictions at the northeast corner of Dayton place and Pine street to business was adversely by vote of the commission.

Committee Room Retained. Resolutions asking the buildings and grounds committee of the council to retain the proposed committee meeting room on the third floor and adjacent to the offices of the planning commission were voted unanimously. There had been agitation to turn a portion of the space over to the construction department, which, it was held, would have eliminated the committee room.

Miss Evelyn Dewberry, secretary to Mayor I. N. Hagsdale, returned to the executive offices for the first time in more than three weeks, having been absent because of illness. She could not resist the lure of the new building and, despite doctor's orders, stayed the day out and performed her duties.

Thomas K. Windham, Inc., obtained the first permit for construction from A. C. McDaniel, deputy building inspector. He will erect a $8,000 brick veneer dwelling house on East Pelham road.

Petition to construct the new $905-

000 headquarters of the First National bank also was filed with the building inspector's office. Atlanta will receive a fee of $1,137 from the permit when it is issued. The law provides a fee of one-eighth of one per cent on building permits.

The structure will be 14 stories high. Pringle & Smith are the architects.

E. M. Pepper, of 1050 Ponce de Leon avenue, filed the first tax return, listing household furniture, an automobile, personal property, jewelry and other property. He was waited on by H. S. Kaylor, tax investigator.

Ed M. Barnes, an employee in the office of City Clerk Walter C. Taylor, paid the first water bill Monday morning. He received a number of autographs of leading city officials and will keep the canceled bill as a memento.

First Business License.

Mayo's Way place, at 717 Ponce de Leon avenue, obtained the first business license.

H. C. Webb acquired the first moving permit from Mrs. Frank Kemp-ton. He is moving from 1443 Metropolitan avenue to 119 Anderson avenue, S. W.

Birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Eugene Croft, of 212 Rhinehart street, on February 20 was the first birth recorded, and the first death certificate was issued to Harry G. Poole for Mrs. Annie Harris, of 111 Harris street.

A woman, Mrs. Della A. Turner, of 1130 State street, N. W., was the first to register to vote.

Offices in Building. Offices in the new building are located as follows:

- Ground Floor—Warden, sanitary complaints, city physicians and record rooms.
- 1—Tax collector and tax assessor, water department, city marshal, city clerk.
- 2—Council chamber, mayor's office and office of mayor's secretary, committee rooms, aldermanic chambers and bookkeeping section of the water department.
- 3—Construction department, building inspector, planning commission.
- 4—City electrician, office of superintendent of buildings and grounds, telephone exchange.
- 5—Comptroller.
- 6—Sanitary and parks departments.
- 8—City health department, welfare bureau.

The seventh floor is not yet assigned. All floors above the eighth will be used by the school department.

Mystery Surrounds Memphian's Murder

DELAND, Fla., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Mystery surrounds the death of Sam Holst, 22, of Memphis, Tenn., found dead Saturday night inside the gate of the Volusia County Fair grounds here. A coroner's jury today found that the man came to his death in a manner unknown, and at the hands of unknown persons. The body was found on the driveway in a pool of blood, the skull fractured at the base of the brain. There was no trail of blood, indicating, police believe, that the man died as he fell. He was an employe of a circus in winter quarters here. Fellow workmen said they did not believe the man had any enemies.

LYONS CLUB OPPOSES LIBRARY FUND CUT

WAYCROSS, Ga., Feb. 24.—By unanimous vote the Lyons Club of Waycross has petitioned the city commission not to reduce the monthly appropriation for the city library, this having been cut from $50 to $25. The Lyons Club feels that the city library has rendered Waycross an invaluable service by the constant purchase of new books, by the excellent manner in which the library is operated, by the low charge made for library membership, and, particularly, by the convenience to school children of the use of the library books. The petition was signed by all the Lyons present at the luncheon this week.

Expulsion Lifted

ROBERTO GONZALES DE TOLEDO

Exiled by Guba Oglethorpe Prof. Granted Amnesty

BY R. E. POWELL.

Down in Cuba where, among other attractions for nature lovers, there are more than 5,000 different kinds of birds, the political views of college students are taken seriously. Sometimes, as back in 1926, they lead to riots and shootings and have been followed by banishments from the country. Just the other day a new political move was made to counteract the indignation which expulsion of 14 students created in the little republic.

Senor Roberto Gonzales de Toledo, 22, now assistant professor of languages at Oglethorpe University, is one of the exiles, but in his quarters at the university Monday he was dividing his time between long looks at photographs of members of his family and getting ready to go back home. The Cuban government has officially granted amnesty to the 14 and Senor Gonzales of the group will leave Oglethorpe early next month.

Imagine, if you can, any excitement in this country should a group of Georgia Tech, Harvard or Illinois students meet and denounce the policies of President Hoover. Or what a ripple it would make if a small group of Tech students were to declare that Governor Hardman is a dictator and that he is trampling the Constitution under foot.

Disliked Machado's Policies. The students, among whom Gonzales was a leader, didn't take kindly to the policies of President Machado, high commander of the little republic. They looked upon him as a despot. They said that he was doing to the Cuban constitution, copied after our own, just what the wet spokesmen have been saying has been done to the American bill of rights since the eighteenth amendment got into that document.

They met in the college, quietly enough at first, but when they attacked Machado's policies, administration supporters in the University of Havana drove them out. Then they held some open meetings, which were dispersed by the Havana police on orders of high government officials. Fighting ensued and a number of students and soldiers were killed. Fourteen of the remaining students, looked upon as principals in the rebellion, were exiled from the country. There was no official deportation, but all of the 14 were told by their political friends to leave. Some went to Mexico, many went to France and others to New York to enter Columbia University.

Went to Mexico. Young Gonzales, a little more than 18 at the time, accepted the advice of his uncle, Julio C. Del Castillo, representative of Camaguey in the Cuban congress, and went to Mexico, where he remained over a year. He then went back to see his people, but on matter had not cleared sufficiently for him to feel safe in staying. So he came here, enrolled for the Oglethorpe commerce course and by his proficiency was soon assisting Prof. W. L. Roney as an instructor in Spanish.

He does not know whether he will go in for politics or not. His brother, who soon will become a lawyer in Havana, already is a political figure in the country with the younger element. He may enter his father's clinic and utilize the training he received in dentistry for two years. Professor Roney said he has an excellent record at Oglethorpe.

Chamber Forum Hears Pennington On Psychology

There is really nothing mysterious about reading characters from facial features and expressions, and anyone with a little study can learn to tell a great deal about other people merely by looking at them, declared Dr. Julian Pennington, famous vocational psychologist, in an address before the forum luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce at the Chamber of Commerce building Monday afternoon.

He stressed the increasing importance of this work in great corporations in selecting men for various positions and types of work, and even in determining what line of work young men should enter.

Roy LeCraw, forum luncheon chairman, presided at the meeting and introduced Dr. Pennington. Others at the speakers' table included Horace Russell, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Raymond Kline, of the Davison-Paxon Company; Joe Ray, president of the junior chamber, and Rush Pearson, Dr. Pennington's assistant and himself an author of note. Some 200 persons were present.

The speaker illustrated his remarks with a number of drawings of various types of faces, pointing out how easy it was, even for the layman, to distinguish between extremes. The shape of the head, set of the chin, nose, lips and eyes, and dozens of other facial characteristics, can give a world of information if one knows how to get it, he explained, and aside from its more obvious value this can be used to correct undesirable traits.

What Price LAZY APPETITE

"Dear, are you not glad you followed my suggestion when I urged you to try S.S.S. for your lost appetite?"

HAVE you an indifference or loathing for food, or do you really enjoy mealtime?

Fads and fancies come and go. We must be reasonable. You can't afford to wreck your body by "killing" an appetite given you by Nature to nourish your body.

You must really enjoy your meals and assimilate them to restore the waste of the body. Don't expect a strong, sturdy body and a keen mind to carry on if you do not enjoy your food. It just can't be done. Friends, happiness and business success may depend on a keen appetite.

Many thousands have turned to S. S. S. when the appetite signaled danger. It is a time-tested remedy... purely vegetable. Easy to assimilate. Pleasant to take. It will do much to restore the natural appetite. It will not act instantly, but, be assured, when taken according to directions, it will usually bring back your desire to eat and enjoy your food. This you well know is the basic step for health. Simply reason it out for yourself and you will agree that it is the practical way.

S.S.S.

Builds Sturdy Health

And remember, S.S.S. will help you get your blood-cells back up to normal. Then that sluggish, let-down feeling and skin troubles will disappear. You should sleep soundly. Firm flesh should take the place of that which was once flabby. You should feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

S.S.S. gives to Nature what it needs in making you feel like yourself again. At all drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

Senate Will Question Members Of Hoover Law Commission

Will Find Out What Group Has Discovered About Prohibition—To Call Mitchell Also.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—The views which the Hoover law enforcement commission and Attorney General William D. Mitchell hold on prohibition enforcement are going to be heard by the senate judiciary committee—but probably behind closed doors. The committee agreed today after sharp debate over the Norris resolution for an inquiry into the enforcement situation to call on these officials two weeks from now to obtain their ideas. The delay in action on the Norris proposal for a senate investigation was regarded by some of those favoring the inquiry as auguring their defeat. There have been persistent reports at the capitol that the Hoover commission is sharply divided over the prohibition issue and over the number of enforcement. While the judiciary committee voted to hear the whole commission, it is likely that only Chairman Wickersham and perhaps one or two other members will be called in. Arguing for his inquiry resolution before the committee, Chairman Norris reiterated his belief that there has been "too much politics in dry enforcement and it is up to the president to eliminate it."

Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, terminated the sharp committee discussion by moving to call in the administration officials. It carried almost unanimously but without a record vote. Senator Ashurst declined to comment on his motion after the meeting but the suggestion was advanced that it would defer the prohibition row until the tariff bill is out of the way. Coincidentally with this decision, Chairman Norris, of the committee, referred the house bill to transfer prohibition enforcement from the treasury to the justice department to a subcommittee headed by Senator Overman, democrat, North Carolina. He takes the place of Senator King, democrat, Utah, who introduced the bill in the senate but who is confined to a hospital. Senator Overman said he intended to have early consideration of the transfer bill and probably without open hearings. He indicated his favor to the measure in the form it was passed by the house, with perhaps some minor amendments. Prohibition later came in for discussion in the senate, where Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, in a speech condemning the first year of the Hoover administration, asserted "the president has taken no steps to secure better enforcement of the liquor laws."

The ceremony will take place before Seminoles and a number of Miami and winter visitors at the Musa Isle village. The bride is 17 years old and the groom 19. A white man's ritual will precede the Seminole wedding rites, which will be followed by an Indian dance.

Wheat Farmers Get Less Than a Dollar

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Dollar wheat, the bugaboo of the farmer, returned to the Kansas City market today as grain prices collapsed. May wheat futures were carried to $1 a bushel despite heavy purchases of cash offerings by co-operative agencies backed by the federal farm board. But in the country the farmer was getting far less than a dollar for his wheat. At Wichita, Kan., elevators cut 10 cents from the price of their scale for wheat delivered by wagon. The top price was 88 cents a bushel. May wheat dipped to an even dollar at the lowest price of the day in Kansas City, closing at $1.01, a bushel, while July finished at $1.08, showing losses for the day of 53-5 to 63-8 cents a bushel. With representatives of the Farmers' National Grain Corporation purchasing cash wheat at 13 cents a bushel higher than private dealers felt justified in paying in view of the declining futures market, the golden grain poured in from the country in a flood recalling summer harvest days. Week-end and holiday accumulations of wheat were 400 cars, much of which was added to the 23,500,000 bushels already stored in elevators here.

NILES, Mich., Feb. 24.—(AP)—The body of Mrs. Phillip Florie, who has been missing from her home here since last Thanksgiving Day, was found buried beneath 20 inches of soil in the back yard of the Florie home today. The body apparently had been placed in the shallow grave and a heap of ashes then piled above it, the searchers said.

FLORIDA SHERIFFS FACING CHARGES

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Two Florida sheriffs were under fire today before Governor Doyle E. Carlton. The governor was asked to consider

The charges against Morrison included drunkenness in office, but the nature of those against Allman was not learned. The governor said that both sides would be heard in his consideration of the charges.

Sargon Scored Remarkable Victory Over His Complications, Says Granger. Gains 15 Lbs.; Feels 20 Years Younger.

"When I began taking Sargon I was in miserable health, and hardly had enough strength to get around, but I'm in fine shape now, and have actually gained fifteen pounds," recently stated W. A. Granger, 446 Woodward Ave., S. E., Atlanta, who

"I don't remember a day in two long years I was free of suffering, and I suffered almost every day to be burdened with every kind of ailment. I suffered almost constantly with a pain in my back, and my kidneys were so weak I could not walk a cup four or five times every night. Getting so little sleep almost wrecked my nerves, and I was so weak it tired me to walk over a block at a time, and I could not do any kind of work. I'd go three and four days without a bowel movement, and ordinary laxatives didn't have any effect on me. I was then told I must have affected my liver and poisoned my system, for at times when I'd be walking along the street severe dizzy spells came on, and I had to stop and rest. My head ached, my headaches worried me, and my appetite and digestion were so poor I could hardly eat. My breakfast usually consisted of a cup of weak coffee and a slice of toast. Sometimes other meals were very little better. What I ate soured on my stomach and the gas that formed pressed up my throat and caused me to have a wild palpitation and shortness of breath. I was trying hard to get relief through different medicines and treatments, but nothing seemed to help me. My friends persuaded me to try Sargol.

"Well, I don't know what it is, but there's something about this medicine that doesn't naturally wear out troubles. By the time of the third bottle the Sargen was gone all of my troubles had gone, I took! I eat anything that's put before me, I sleep like a baby, I have no kind of stomach trouble or indigestion. My kidneys seem to be straightened out, nothing disturbs my sleep. I am now thirty years old, three years old, I believe I'm as well and as strong as I was twenty years ago. I thank Sargen's Soft Mass pills for directing, and they have given me complete relief from constipation and liver troubles and those awful dizzy spells and headaches. I am now a happy man. I already told many of my friends and neighbors about this wonderful medicine, and I'll keep on praising it as long as I live."

The Sargen Man is at Jacobs' Main Store, 48 North Broad St., Grant Bldg., where he is meeting the public and explaining the merits of this celebrated new scientific product. Sargen's pills may be obtained at all Jacobs' Stores throughout Atlanta. (Adv.)

Here's a way to be rid of constipation and its ill—a way that works quickly, effectively, but gently.

A candy Cascaret at night—the next morning you're feeling fine. Breath is sweetened; tongue cleared; biliousness, headache, dizziness, gas vanish. Repeat the treatment two or three nights and the souring waste out of your system. See how appetite and energy return; how digestion improves.

The action of Cascarets is sure, complete, helpful to everyone. The taste is nice, pleasant, which doctors agree actually strengthens bowels muscles. All drug stores have the 10c boxes.—(adv.)

Office To Reopen Today in Charge of Ordinary; Board To Name Successor.

With Judge Thomas H. Jeffries, ordinary, acting as clerk by operation of law, the officers of clerk of superior court are to be chosen for the next year. A successor to Clerk Thomas C. Miller, who died Saturday, will be appointed by the Fulton county commission at a meeting of the county assembly.

The appointment by the county commission will be a temporary post, as the ordinary is required by law to call an election for the clerk of superior court at the next regular term of the court. The election must be held within 20 days from the time it is called by the ordinary.

The clerkship of Al Dunn, calendar clerk, for the post vacated by Mr. Miller was indorsed Monday at a conference of employers in the clerk's office. The county commission is mentioned for the clerkship are James C. George, marshal of school district; Jere M. Wells, county school superintendent; Walter Simmons, former county school superintendent, and County Commissioner Walter B.

Reports of committee chairmen and consideration of changing the meeting place will be the principal matters to come before the Civitan Club at its regular weekly luncheon today at the Atlanta Athletic Club, it is announced by Dr. W. Earl Quillian, president.

Advertisements published Monday called for the reception of bids for the renovation of the state capitol on March 18. The date was advanced from March 12 as previously announced because of the technical problems connected with the advertisement for bids for state work.

Each bid for the general contract must be accompanied by a certified check for $2,000 and a separate elevator contract must be accompanied by a $2,000 check and those for the work of improving the acoustics of the two houses of the legislature by checks for $1,000 each.

The governor said that drawings and specifications would be furnished by the architects when applications are accompanied by checks. Edwards and Smith, Atlanta, are the architects engaged.

Suit against the United States on a war risk insurance policy in which the husband first named his mother as beneficiary, and neglected to change it to protect her and three children due to the fact that he was suffering from a bayonet wound in the head and was not entirely responsible for his actions. Mrs. H. A. Sner, the plaintiff, is said to have withdrawn her claim to the premiums which, it is alleged, have not been paid.

T. R. Gress, assistant attorney-general, Monday solved a problem as to the etiquette with which an anonymous threatening letter should be received without referring either to the attorney or the law or the authority of Emily Post.

"Watch out. Be careful what you do as something may happen to you," the letter, postmarked from St. Louis, said, and addressed to the state's attorney, Atlanta, Ga., said.

Mr. Gress sealed the letter in another envelope, marked it "opened by Mr. Gress," and sent it to the office of John A. Boykin, Fulton county solicitor.

"People ought not to make mistakes like that," he said. "Somebody might get hurt."

B. M. Lufburrow, state forester and chairman of the American Legion's committee in charge of the campaign for a $10,000 World War memorial fire tower on Blood mountain, Monday announced the opening of the campaign. The first contribution, he said, was from the women's auxiliary unit of the Quilting post.

Outstanding members of the committee in charge are: Mrs. James Maddox, Rome; Robert S. Rodenberg, Jr., Moultrie and Charles P. Graddick, Barnesville. Dr. C. M. Strahan, head of the engineering department of the University of Georgia, is the memorial chair. Preliminary drawings of the memorial have been completed.

Gibson, Ewing & Greene, Inc., fire and casualty insurance agents with offices at 1100 Standard building, announces that Hugh B. Adams has become associated with the agency and that the business of the Adams-Byrle Insurance Company will be serviced from that office.

Mr. Adams is prominent in social and business circles in Atlanta, and has made unusual progress in the insurance field. The agency with which he is now associated writes fire and casualty lines.

TAINTED CHICKEN SEEN AS POISONING CAUSE

130 Poisoned at San Francisco Banquet Reported Recovering.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Poisoned by food served at a Salvation Army banquet here, nearly 130 persons, most of them children, were recovering with few exceptions today as authorities began a three-fold investigation to determine the cause of the near tragedy.

While there were no deaths reported, at least a dozen sufferers were still in a serious condition at the San Francisco hospital. Among them was Colonel A. W. Crawford, second in command of the Golden Gate division of the Salvation Army and father of Rubea Crawford, former Salvation Army "Angel of Broadway."

City health officers began an analysis of food served at the banquet yesterday in an effort to determine the nature of the poisoning. Emergency hospital physicians said the symptoms resembled those of botulinus poisoning but withheld a definite statement pending the analysis.

More than 500 persons attended the banquet as delegates to the annual young people's conference of the Golden Gate division of the Salvation Army. The menu included veal and chicken, commercially preserved corn, potatoes, cranberries, a gelatin dessert, milk, tea, and coffee.

The first of the stricken diners arrived at the Central Emergency hospital two hours after the meal. Some had been seized with convulsions, and others were taken ill while motoring to their homes in nearby towns.

Dr. J. J. Carroll, who attended many of the victims, said a preliminary investigation indicated the chicken had poisoned the banqueters. He pointed out Mrs. Arthur Hopkins, one of those stricken, had eaten no other food at the meal.

$100,000 Stolen.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Robbers broke into a safe of the Frank Herschfeld Jewelry Company last night and escaped with gems valued at from $75,000 to $100,000, police announced today.

CHICAGO SPORTSMAN DIES FOLLOWING FALL

Eugene Byfield Fatally Hurt in Fall From Polo Pony.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Eugene Byfield, sportsman, hotel owner and one of the few rightly to be known as a "man-about-town," died early today from injuries suffered last Tuesday in a fall from his polo pony. He was 46 years old, unmarried, and vice president of the Hotel Sherman Company.

Byfield died without regaining consciousness, having laid in a coma 130 hours.

At Grasmere farm, his Barrington place, Byfield had chow dogs, polo ponies and racing horses that brought him international recognition among sportsmen. In 1924 his mount, "Red-light," was judged the best playing and most reliable polo pony by the Horse Association of America.

When interest in polo lagged in the middle west several years ago, Byfield was one of the first to join in the revival. Recently he had entered the pride of his stable, Racketeer, in the Kentucky derby.

His friends included thousands of the great and famous in the political, social, business, sport and theatrical world and many of these he had entertained in his exclusive Bal Tabarin and in the bungalow atop the Sherman.

He left the University of Chicago before graduation to enter the Hotel Sherman Corporation, of which his father, the late Joseph Byfield, was the head.

Two brothers survive, Dr. Albert H. Byfield and Ernest Byfield, who recently was married to Mrs. Katherine Rend, a society divorcee.

PUBLISHER ENTERS ALABAMA SENATE RACE

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Frederick L. Thompson, Mobile publisher and former member of the United States shipping board, today formally declared himself a candidate for the United States senate seat now held by J. Thomas Heflin. Thompson will oppose John H. Bankhead, of Jasper, in the democratic primary to be held August 12.

Thompson's announcement of his candidacy followed his plea of Saturday to Edmund W. Pettus, of Selma, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, for an extension of time from March 1 for candidates to qualify and enter the primary. Mr. Pettus, who was attending court at Luverne Saturday and at Greensboro today, said over the telephone that he had not had time to compose an answer to Mr. Thompson's request, but that he probably would reply tonight.

In his formal announcement Thompson declared that unless a candidate entered the primary before Friday night, Bankhead would be permitted to obtain the nomination by default. Heflin having been barred from the primary by the state democratic executive committee for his action in opposing the democratic presidential ticket in 1928. However, Heflin has said that if the committee continued in its refusal to permit him to become a candidate for re-election in the primary, he will oppose the democratic nominee in the general election. He said he will formally qualify with the secretary of state tomorrow.

Princess's Fiance Denies Break Rumor

LONDON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—A Cannes dispatch to the London Daily Mail today quoted Count Alexander Von Hohenberg, as saying stories from Bucharest that his engagement with Princess Ileana, of Rumania, had been broken were "fabrications of the Rumanian government, which wants the princess to marry a crown prince."

He declared: "We love one another. I have done nothing to be ashamed of. My fiancee knows me well enough to trust me. We are going to be married in Bucharest April 27. I am going to Pless and London and thence to Cairo, and will return to Cannes about March 25 with the princess."

When asked regarding reports of his imprisonment in Germany the count replied that there was a certain amount of truth in them, but the affair had occurred when he was a boy and he regarded it as blackmail. They could have hushed the case with money, he said, but preferred to take it into court where a nominal fine was imposed. He said he was not sentenced to imprisonment.

Two Montanans Killed As Airplane Crashes

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Henry B. Lorentz, 33, and E. C. Smith, both of Great Falls, were killed when their plane crashed in a field 11 miles west of Stanford, Mont., yesterday, it was learned today. The two men were returning from Cleveland, Ohio.

The wrecked plane with the bodies was discovered by George H. McKenna, a farmer. Indications were that the plane was wrecked in trying to make a landing and had struck a cow.

Episcopal Leader Rests in Chapel Crypt

EVANSTON, Ill., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Church dignitaries and relatives gathered at the Western Theological seminary today to commit the body of the late Charles P. Anderson, bishop of Chicago and primate of the Protestant Episcopal Church in America, to a crypt in Anderson chapel.

The removal of the late primate's remains from the vault to the crypt was part of the program dedicating five new buildings at the seminary, one of which, the chapel, is a memorial to Anderson's work as bishop.

LEGION COMMANDER URGES WAR INSURANCE

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 24.—(AP)—O. L. Bodenhamer, national commander of the American Legion, in an address today said the cheapest insurance the United States could have for such an emergency as war would be provided under a proposed law specifying equal service of man, power, wealth, materials and industries in war time.

He urged support of this proposal, asserting it would provide the nation with an ample but inexpensive defense which was worthy of consideration because it "would serve the forces of peace." The universal draft, would provide the spirit of one for all, and all for one, the commander said.

U. S. Will Reach Decision On Central Site This Week

Selection of Tract Now Depends Upon Matter of Overhead Conveyor for Mail.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(Special.)—Definite decision as to whether the new Atlanta postoffice building will be erected on the Central of Georgia site may be expected this week, it was announced today by high officials of the postoffice department. Selection of this site now depends solely upon the matter of an overhead conveyor for the mails between the new building and the Terminal station and upon the granting by the Terminal company of sufficient space to care for the government's needs.

Specifications and plans taking care of this situation were received in Washington last week and it is thought now that the only thing necessary will be for the government and railroad and Terminal officials to gather and smooth out any differences that may exist between what the postoffice department feels necessary and what the railroads are willing to grant.

Conferences to this end will be held this week and following an engagement of Congressman Rameck, of the fifth district, with Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General Philip this morning it was made known that a definite decision might be expected within a few days.

High Court Declines To Review Rail Case

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(P)—The supreme court today declined to pass on whether the interstate commerce commission had authority to control proposed extensions of inter-urban electric railways. ston-Salem, N. C., to connect with the Norfolk & Western. Analyzing the order of the commission, the supreme court in an opinion by Justice Brandeis, declared that there was nothing in it which would prevent the railway from proceeding with the construction of a new mile-

You are cordially invited to attend the Cooking School—to see demonstrated this great-work-saving device which plays so great a part in making leisure hours for housewives.

Ironer Attached, $49.50

This can be readily attached to the washer and operated with the same motor. It irons everything from frilled garments to the household flat linens with perfection. This will be demonstrated at the Cooking School by a factory representative.

POSITIVE PROOF! OF SUPERIORITY

The smoothness and the cleanliness of washing in the New Porcelain Tub is a delightful experience. And after washing the porcelain is very easy to clean. Just wipe it off with a cloth. That's all!

1 PORCELAIN TUB
The crowning glory of the new ROTAREX is its Porcelain Tub—beautifully colored a jaspé sage. Bright, nickle-plated parts add sparkle to its beauty. No other washer at any price is equipped with a Porcelain Tub of like size, quality and finish.

2 DASHER-DISC
Here is the most marvelous washing device ever invented. Apex engineers worked 18 months to produce the DASHER-DISC. It is fascinating to watch the DASHER-DISC in action and see the many varied gyrations of the things being washed. It is FAST indeed—yet perfectly safe.

3 NICKEL-PLATED WRINGER
The ROTAREX Wringer is a large, over-sized model—entirely nickel-plated—the kind of wringer found on washers selling for $160.00. Comparison with other washers will prove that there is no wringer that is superior to the ROTAREX Wringer.

4 POWER PLANT
The motor and driving mechanism—the heart of a washer—has proven its worth for years on over a Quarter of a Million "built by Apex" washers. With the confidence that comes from experience, Apex backs the New ROTAREX and its time-tested power plant with a TEN YEAR GUARANTEE.

Drennon Retains Seat in Council; Keeps Old Home

Just after wedding ceremonies, wives are privileged to say where husbands will reside following honeymoons, but, on their return, the male contingent has a voice in affairs.

Or so it would seem Monday when Councilman Raleigh E. Drennon, popular member of the ninth ward delegation in council, visited Atlanta's new $1,000,000 city hall for the first time since it has been occupied as the official seat of the municipal government.

Wedding announcements about two weeks ago, carried a Peachtree road address, where the newlyweds could be found by their friends when they returned to Atlanta from a wedding trip to Miami and other Florida points.

Monday, Mr. Drennon stated emphatically that he and his bride will reside at his home at 561 Moreland avenue, N. E.

He was receiving the congratulations of his friends on his marriage, February 8, to Miss Nettie Whittle, beautiful and popular belle.

There was much conjecture as to whether Mr. Drennon planned to relinquish his seat in council, but his announcement Monday dissipated all doubt and seemed to settle the matter definitely. Had he moved to the Peachtree address resignation would have been necessary.

YOST WILL END SERIES OF LECTURES TONIGHT

versity, who was killed Sunday night in an automobile wreck near Winder, was taken late Monday to his home at Spartanburg, S. C., for funeral services and burial today.

Companions of young Arnold on the fatal motor trip, returning with him to the campus after attending the wedding of his brother in Spartanburg, Monday paid marked tribute to his unselfishness and devotion to other members of the party even while he, himself, was mortally wounded.

After the accident, young Arnold was the first to disentangle himself from the wreckage, his companions reported. Though fatally injured, having been pierced through the body with a steel windshield wiper, he rushed to the side of his companions to determine their injuries and give them any aid possible for him to render. At first he denied he was seriously hurt.

His companions, Ed Emmerson, of Birmingham; Lyle Kratz, of Wheeling, W. Va.; Paul Bacon, of Atlanta, and Burke Hedges, of Cuba, owner of the car, picked him up and put him in the partially wrecked machine to drive him to Winder hospital. He lost consciousness en route and died soon after reaching the hospital. Hedges and Davis were slightly injured by flying glass.

Arnold was president of both the student body and the senior class at Oglethorpe and was one of the institution's outstanding student leaders.

'Military' Brown Must Wait Month for U. S. Court Trial

John A. (Military) Brown, alleged bunco artist, as he stepped from the car of United States Marshal Louis Crawford to enter the federal building for a conference with Assistant United States Attorney Hal Lindsay. Brown is at the left, Marshal Crawford in the center and Deputy Marshal Harlee Goode with his back to the camera.

James A. "Military" Brown, who returned to Atlanta Sunday afternoon following an absence of some ten years, during which time he was the subject of a nationwide search, probably will be forced to bide his time in the Fulton tower for a month or six weeks before his case can be brought to trial in federal court, it was indicated here Monday.

Rumors of a guilty plea continue in persistent circulation while still other reports have it that Brown has denied his identity and will use this as a basis of defense.

Federal court is not in session here at the present time, Judge Samuel H. Sibley being in New Orleans, and it is understood that it will not convene until the second Monday in March. At this time there are some 400 prohibition cases on the calendar a fact which lends credence to the reported delay in Brown's trial.

He is charged in a federal indictment with using the mails to defraud Noah Davis of $4,500 in a confidence game as the lieutenant of Floyd Woodward, alleged leader of the gang.

He also is under state indictments charging larceny after trust. Solicitor General John A. Boykin announced Monday that he had requested Brown held under $100,000 bond on charges of larceny after trust and that the case against him would be prosecuted as "soon as the federal government gets through with him."

Brown forfeited bonds here totaling $27,500 in 1921 and was not heard of later until arrested in British Columbia last September. There he obtained his release on a writ of habeas corpus before word could be sent to hold him.

He was arrested in Long Beach, Cal., about six weeks ago and arrived in Atlanta Sunday afternoon, when he was turned over to United States Marshal L. H. Crawford.

BOY SCOUT VERY ILL

Mother Gives Blood in Effort
To Save Him.

Although his condition showed a temporary improvement after transfusion of blood given by his mother, Leonard Woodward, Hapeville Boy Scout, continued critically ill at Grady hospital Monday night.

The transfusion took place Sunday and the lad's mother, Mrs. Tarant Woodward, whose blood was the first to match that of her son after several tests of that offered by volunteers, was so weakened that she had to go home and to bed. Woodward first went to Grady with an ear infection which later developed into meningitis.

Mouth Health Drive Will Begin Tonight

Plans for a comprehensive mouth health campaign over the entire state of Georgia will be outlined tonight at a meeting at the Atlanta Southern Dental college. Dr. Jacob G. Cohen, of Minneapolis, Minn., secretary of the Mouth Health Association, is to be the principal speaker.

Nationally known workers in the public health field will be present, among them Dr. F. Abercrombie, of the state board of health; Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of the Atlanta public schools; Dr. J. P. Bowden, also of the Georgia state board of health; Mrs. Bessie Kennedy, state hygienist, and Dr. J. P. Kennedy, of the city board of health.

The Georgia State Dental Society also is inaugurating a similar program of mouth health education, to begin very soon. Plans call for a series of articles by leading dentists in the state, these articles to appear each Sunday for 22 Sundays in every daily newspaper in Georgia with a Sunday edition.

Hard of Hearing Plan to Organize Chapter Tonight

Plans for organizing a local chapter of the American Federation of Organizations for the Hard-of-Hearing will be launched at 8 o'clock tonight in the Henry Grady hotel when Miss Betty C. Wright, national secretary of the federation, now touring the south, opens activities here.

Persons afflicted with auricular impediments and educational workers and others interested in the problems of the hard-of-hearing are urged to participate in the gathering. The assembly room to be used for the meeting will be wired and equipped with a special loud-speaking system, making it possible for persons partially deaf to understand the speakers.

A second meeting will be held at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The federation now has 27 affiliated leagues, with the only one in Georgia located at Augusta.

Smythe Foundation Lectures Are Begun

The first of a series of six lectures on the general subject of "Christ and Culture" under auspices of the Smythe Foundation, was delivered Monday night in the chapel of Columbia Theological seminary by Dr. William Chalmers Covert, general secretary of the board of Christian education of the Presbyterian church with headquarters in Philadelphia.

Similar lectures will be delivered at the chapel by Dr. Covert tonight, Wednesday and Thursday nights, Friday morning at 11 o'clock and Saturday morning at 10:30.

Presbyterians Plan Drive for $600,000

An intensive drive to raise $600,000 for carrying on various activities of the Presbyterian denomination in Atlanta will be launched at a congregational get-together banquet to be held at the Hotel Candler, Decatur, on the night of March 4. Dates for the campaign are already fixed and will be March 16-20.

Ministers representing the 20 Presbyterian churches in Atlanta, with congregations totaling 13,500, held a meeting Monday morning at the Atlanta Y. M. C. A. and considered plans for launching the drive. Of the total amount which is being sought, $200,000 is for the purpose of "setting the Columbia Theological seminary free" of a debt incurred when this institution was brought to Atlanta from South Carolina.

I'll Pay Anyone $1000.00 IN CASH to Name this New Soap

this offer open to everyone!

Here is an Easy Way to Make $1000.00

If you were putting a new soap on the market what would you call it? You would give it some name—either simple or fancy—what would that name be? I know you have a name in mind now, or you can suggest one after a few moments' thought. The very name you select may win the $1000.00 I am offering. It makes no difference whether you live in the country or city, if you are educated or not, if you are rich or poor, I want you to help me by suggesting a name for my new soap. We have paid thousands of dollars to prize winners and in almost every instance the person who least expected to win received a prize. You, too, may win by sending a suggestion. It costs you nothing to try. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose, for any name may win. This soap is fragrant, lathers freely, promotes a smooth soft skin, is excellent for the bath, washing the hair, etc. A coined word such as Clean-Easy, Clean-All, or the name of flowers, trees, etc., or any other name you think of may be submitted.

YOU CAN'T LOSE

because other contestants submit the winning name first, as we will give duplicate prizes to all who send the winning name. If the name you send wins, you will receive $1000.00 regardless of how many other people have submitted the same name. This means you can't lose by others submitting the winning name first.

ABSOLUTELY NOTHING ELSE TO DO

Remember there is no obligation. The person sending the name we choose will win this handsome prize. Nothing to buy or sell—nothing else to do to win. Think of the pleasure this prize can bring you, the places you could go, the things you could buy, with $1000.00, or $1100.00 cash, if you are prompt. Wouldn't it be delightful to win? Wouldn't it be a pleasant surprise to your friends? Don't think you can't win for your opportunity is just as good as anyone's, if you will send in a name. Do it right now for the very name you send may win.

$100 EXTRA FOR PROMPTNESS!

To get quick action we are going to pay the winner an extra $100.00 for promptness, or $1100.00 in all—so send your suggestion AT ONCE!

CONTEST RULES

This contest is open to everyone except members of this firm, its employees and relatives. Each contestant may send only one name. Sending two or more names will cause all names submitted by that person to be thrown out.

Contest closes April 30, 1930. Duplicate prizes will be given in case of ties. To win the promptness prize of $100.00 extra, the winning name suggested must be mailed within three days after our announcement is read.

ROME, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Queen Victoria, of Sweden, who has suffered from pulmonary trouble for many years, became so gravely ill today that her doctors despaired of saving her life.

For several days physicians have administered camphor and kein injections, as well as oxygen. Though she may live for a few weeks, she appeared to be near death.

King Gustav has been at her bedside for some time and Prince Wilhelm, their second son, arrived today. Queen Victoria was born in August, 1862, the daughter of Grand Duke Frederick, of Baden. She was married to King Gustav, then crown prince, in 1881.

Indigestion Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.—(adv.)

MRS. BESSIE LAMAR TO BE BURIED TODAY

Picturesque Woman Was Beloved in Georgia and Throughout South.

Funeral services for Mrs. Bessie Webb Lamar, wife of Dr. Abner Whitley Lamar, a distinguished minister of the Southern Baptist denomination, will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Colonial Hills Baptist church, with Dr. B. D. Gray and Dr. H. A. Duncan officiating. Interment will be in Crest Lawn cemetery.

A quaint and picturesque figure who typified in her personality the best traditions of the womanhood of the old south, Mrs. Lamar will be missed by thousands who knew her in the cities and towns where her husband has served in a ministerial capacity.

Mrs. Lamar was born in The Bluff, Buford county, South Carolina, in 1845, the great-granddaughter of Thomas Heyward, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. Her girlhood was spent in Charleston, S. C., where her family lived until compelled to flee as refugees two years after the Civil War began. The move proved fruitless, as their new home at Anderson, S. C., was ransacked by Stoneman's Raiders of the Federal army.

After her marriage Mrs. Lamar left the Episcopal church to become an ardent co-worker with her husband in his pastorates of the downtown Central Baptist church at Memphis, Tenn.; the First Baptist church at Omaha, Neb., and the First Baptist church at Galveston, Texas, besides numerous smaller pastorates in later years in Florida and Georgia.

While in Galveston she became acquainted with Dr. George W. Truitt, then a student in Baylor University, Waco, Texas, and a warm friendship had existed between them ever since. Mrs. Lamar was of poetical instinct, her lines appearing in many newspapers and religious magazines. She was a delightful teller of stories to children. A natural leader among women, she devoted her rare talents to organizing Bible classes and other church work.

The body of Mrs. Lamar, whose husband was the pastor of the Colonial Hills church, will lie in state at the church this afternoon for an hour prior to the funeral service.

Mrs. Lamar is survived, in addition to her husband, by three daughters, Mrs. O. L. Baker, of College Park; Mrs. H. A. Gardner, of Alpharetta, Ga.; and Mrs. M. L. McKenzie, of Atlanta; two sons, A. W. Lamar, Jr., of East Point, and W. L. Lamar, of Jacksonville, Fla.; one brother, Charles H. Webb, of Dallas, Texas, and a granddaughter, Miss Trixie McKenzie, of Atlanta.

HOG, POULTRY SALES DECLINE TO $90,000

With offerings and demands light, as compared with previous weeks, total sales of poultry and hogs last week was only slightly more than $90,000, according to reports received by the bureau of markets, Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, announced Monday.

During the week 47 cars of hogs were sold at a gross price of $69,321.85. Farmers from 11 counties participated in the sales, with Terrell county leading with sales of 10 cars and Dodge and Sumter second with 7 cars.

Incomplete reports of poultry sales indicate gross receipts of more than $21,000, it was said by Mr. Talmadge.

The towns in which hog sales will be conducted this week are: Today, Tonnille, Sandersville, Uvalde and Blakely; Wednesday, Douglas and Thomasville; Thursday, Statesboro, Cochran, Alma, Bainbridge and Cuthbert; and Friday, Leesburg, Kite and Valdosta.

Poultry pick-up cars will make the following stops: Today, Royston, Canon, Vienna, Nichols, Douglas, Thomasville, Hartwell, Thomson, Joseph, Shellman, Dawson, Albany, Summerville and Rome; Wednesday, Lavonia, Talbotton, Oglethorpe, Moultrie, Baxley, Crawfordville, Cairo, Richland, Leesburg, Rockmart, Statesboro, Porterdale, Garfield; Thursday, Martin, Woodbury, Tifton, Greensboro, Hazlehurst, Cassette, Ellaville, Dalton, Dalton, Summitt, Graymont, Stillmore, Oak Park, and Friday, Toccoa, Fitzgerald, Lumber City, Buena Vista, Swainsboro, Vidette and Midville.

6,000 CUSTOMERS GET NATURAL GAS TODAY

Nearly 6,000 additional gas customers will get natural gas shortly after noon today when the new fuel is turned into a large district near Grant Park and the federal prison, according to an announcement of the Atlanta Gas Light Company.

Red cards, which give full instructions to those who will be affected by the change of fuels, have been mailed to each gas user in the district, and gas company officials advised that they be followed exactly.

The new fuel will reach individual customers at intervals, depending upon the time required for the manufacture of gas remaining in the mains to be used up, it was said. It will be easy to tell when natural gas replaces the manufactured gas in any home by the much hotter and larger flame which it will make. This flame will give the appearance which might be given had the pressure been greatly increased, it was said. The pressure, however, will be exactly the same, the difference being in the much higher fuel content of the natural gas.

When this occurs the top burners of gas ranges may be turned down until the flame is of normal size and continue to be used without difficulty. All other appliances should be turned off and not used again until adjustments have been made by workmen from the gas company, which will be done as rapidly as possible, but which will require several days before its completion.

Mother, Daughter Share Weber Estate

The will of the late Gustav F. Weber Monday was filed with Ordinary Thomas H. Jeffries for probate. Temporary letters of administration have been issued to Irvin T. Ragsdale. The will leaves half of the property to the widow, Mrs. Pauline Weber, and the other half to the daughter, Miss Clara J. Weber. At the ordinary's office, it was said that the estate is valued at $90,000, the temporary administrator's bond having been set at $100,000.

DR. COVERT SPEAKS AT DECATUR SEMINARY

Philadelphian Opens Series of Lectures on Subject of "Christ and Culture."

DECATUR, Ga., Feb. 24.—Dr. William Chalmers Covert, of Philadelphia, general secretary of the Presbyterian board of Christian education, opened his series of six lectures at the Columbia Theological seminary here tonight. He spoke on "Christ and Culture."

"Materialism," said Dr. Covert, "is driving a deep salient into the faith and spiritual idealism of our generation. Its crudest exhibition is in the greed and grasping disposition of money-mad men. We have lost the spirit of Christ in the cold-blooded system of humanitarianism. In our effort to appropriate all the advantages of modern applied science in the philosophy and psychology of our mechanized age, much of our education has become secularized if not paganized. In the cultural procedure of our day, many schools have lost sight of the spiritual values in education and the moral ends of all true culture."

"It will be an irreparable loss if the streams of our American culture flowing down upon us from the clear uplands of pioneer faith, hope and morality, are to be tainted by the less and despiritualized concepts of modern apostles of unfaith and despair. Our destiny as a freeborn, immortal humanity depends upon our keeping these longed-for souls of ours consciously turned toward God and by His grace and truth rising more and more into the place of Christ as the sanctifier of all knowledge and the source of all true culture."

Secretary Covert lamented what he called the despiritualizing features of

Miss Jessie Marie DeBoth, famous home economist, who will direct the cooking school to be held here this week under the auspices of The Atlanta Constitution, is shown here giving instructions to the mechanical servant developed by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co., which will be demonstrated at the school. The school will be held at Loew's Grand theater and will open this morning at 10 o'clock. The "maid" is known as Katrina Van Texovox, and was brought to Atlanta through the courtesy of the Georgia Power Co.

the times, the moral disorder of this generation. He insisted that the church was seeking to meet the spiritual needs of the day and that the major goal of all true culture was a renewed and spiritual society.

There is a reappearance among current philosophers, according to Dr. Covert, of an atheistic humanism. He defined these humanists as disillusioned philosophers in their "godless" universe, on a futile search for the highest good. "The moral sanctions, the spiritual joys, the motive-making powers for which they seek," said Secretary Covert, "come only through faith in a moral universe at the center of which is God revealed in the love and sacrificial life of Christ."

"We need to fortify the present generation against the nontheistic speculation that eliminates God from our well ordered yet mysterious universe and that also ruthlessly dethrones if not destroys human personality. When human personality is eliminated from the spiritual consciousness of the race, a supreme moral cataclysm has overwhelmed us. Against the spiritual nihilism of this mechanistic conception of man and the degradation of personality, we set that measure of man's worth we see reflected in the man Christ Jesus. It is necessary to bring reassurance to those disconcerting states of mind arising from the materialism and naturalism of our otherwise great day. These disbeliefs and creeds of unfaith all rise from low earth levels of materialized life and thought. By their roots as well as their fruits we know them."

Dr. Covert will deliver his second lecture of the series tonight, when he will define and interpret culture in terms of spiritual values and Christian ideals.

First Financial Head of League To Visit Atlanta

Sir Herbert Brown Ames, of Montreal, Canada, the first financial director of the League of Nations, will be in Atlanta next week for a series of addresses and conferences at Agnes Scott College and Emory University. He will deliver an address, "The Fulfillment of the Promise," at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, March 5, in the Emory theology chapel under the joint auspices of the Student Lecture Association of Emory and the International Relations Club. In his speech he will review the past ten years of the history of the League of Nations, including a discussion of arbitration, security and disarmament.

Sir Herbert is best known, perhaps, as the first financial director, or treasurer, of the League of Nations and it was under his administration that the financial restoration of both Austria and Hungary were brought about, and the finances of the league first put on a sound basis. He held this post from 1919 to 1926.

Sir Herbert will make a visit of several days to Atlanta as the guest of the International Relations Clubs of Emory University and Agnes Scott. During his stay in this city he will be entertained at dinner by the Emory International Relations Club, while the Agnes Scott Club will give a reception and luncheon in his honor. He will address informally a number of different groups of students from the two institutions, on subjects connected with the activities of the League of Nations and on Thursday, March 6, at noon, he will speak to the students of the Lamar School of Law at Emory on "The Permanent Court of International Justice."

Kemper 'Got' 6 Million As Receiver, Charged

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Charges that William T. Kemper, of Kansas City, Mo., democratic national committeeman for Missouri, used his post as receiver of the bankrupt Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railroad Company, to profit by more than $6,000,000 at the expense of security holders, were brought to light today in federal court.

The charges were revealed by the filing of a motion on behalf of Congressman George H. Tinkham, of Boston, and two sisters for the right to intervene as plaintiffs in a suit brought a year ago against Kemper by Dr. James C. Ayer, a New York physician, and others.

The original complaint, filed in the state supreme court but later transferred to the federal court because of its interstate character, charged that Kemper withheld knowledge of the pending sale of the railroad and of its generally improved financial condition and bought up the two-year 6 per cent gold notes—the road's only security issue—which were defaulted in April, 1916, for 10 to 25 cents on the dollar.

Then, it was charged, Kemper sold these securities, and with them control of "the Orient system," to the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe system.

Democratic Leader Hits Hoover Meeting

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Representative Garner, of Texas, the house democratic leader, said today's White House breakfast conference was "a move to divert the attention of the public from the chaotic economic and unemployment conditions brought on by lack of leadership of the president."

"While the breakfast at the White House was called for the purported purpose of discussing suggested expenditures," the Texan said, "it was in reality for the purpose of diverting the public mind from the want of leadership in the president and his party."

"The very fact that the president urged the expenditure of all appropriations available for this fiscal year, and the deficiency appropriations already requested, as well as the reduction of taxes by $100,000,000 for this calendar year, shows the hypocrisy and inconsistency of the pretended purpose of the conference."

SAVANNAH POLICEMEN GIVEN NEW OUTFITS

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Sprucing up its equipment and knowledge the Savannah police force is in receipt of two new guns, one a sub-machine gun and the other a .38 caliber cartridge weapon, while its fingerprint man, Detective C. E. Hodges, of the identification department is now in Atlanta making a study of the classification of finger prints. Following this up with awarding of contracts for new uniforms today by the committee of city council, local police may be said to be blossoming out in several different ways.

INCREASE IN MELON ACREAGE IS SEEN

Farmers Look to Other
Crops With Threatened
Decrease in Cotton
Profits.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Feb. 24.—The campaign to reduce the acreage in cotton for Georgia this year will result in an unusual increase in the melon acreage, it is believed, and a conservative warning is being sounded by those with wide experience and judgment in an effort to prevent over-planting.

J. J. Parrish, secretary and general manager of the Sovega Melon Association, has the following to say in regard to the prospect:

"The action of the federal farm board in endeavoring to decrease the cotton acreage is causing farmers to look for some other money crop and as melons proved to be a profitable crop for at least half the growers in 1929, many of them have decided to go into the melon business. This naturally means that in 1930 there will be hundreds of would-be melon growers who have had but little, if any, previous experience in melon production, yet believe they can reduce their cotton acreage and recoup the loss in revenue by growing melons. Some few may, but a majority will not and in not making money themselves they will produce enough melons to keep the experienced growers from making any likewise."

There is no doubt but that it is wise to reduce cotton acreage through out the cotton-producing belt, but it is very unwise to substitute a perishable product for cotton, and especially one as hazardous as melons.

"This warning is regarded as very important to business interests in south Georgia just at this time when planting plans are being made and efforts are being made to bring the importance of the situation to the attention of farmers before it is too late."

Charlton Elected.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Exchange Club of Savannah elected Richard M. Charlton president today to fill the vacancy caused by the death of its late president, James A. Gross, who died last Thursday.

9 out of 10 Screen Stars use Lux Toilet Soap

It has swept across the world from Hollywood to Europe

"NO beauty is more important to a girl than alluring smooth skin." So says William A. Seiter, prominent First National director, summing up what 45 leading Hollywood directors have found out from their experience with motion pictures.

"A screen star must pass the most merciless test—the great close-up lights find out the slightest flaw in the skin," he goes on to say. "But the owner of a skin which can pass this test has the support of an immense adoring public."

It is because alluringly smooth skin is so vital for success on the screen that of the 521 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars, 511 are simply devoted to Lux Toilet Soap. And all the great film studios have made it the official soap for their dressing rooms.

The Broadway stage stars are equally enthusiastic about this soap, so daintily fragrant and white. And now, too, the screen stars of the European capitals have adopted Lux Toilet Soap! To keep their skin as faultlessly smooth as the American stars keep theirs.

You will love the way it keeps your skin silken-smooth! And such generous lather as it gives, even in very hard water. Order several cakes of Lux Toilet Soap—today.

CORINNE GRIFFITH, First National's charmingly beautiful star, says: "The thing I like best about Lux Toilet Soap is the wonderful smoothness of my skin after it!"

REDDY RETURNS.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

When mystified to fear give pause;
There nothing is without a cause.

—Reddy Fox.

Reddy Fox had something to think over. He couldn't understand why Hooty the Owl and Mrs. Hooty had attacked him. No, sir, he couldn't understand it at all. He was smart enough to guess that they had a nest up in one of those trees near where he had seen them, but that didn't explain why they had attacked him.

"It must be," thought Reddy as he sat on his doorstep in the Old Pasture, "that Hooty and Mrs. Hooty have taken Blacky the Crow's nest of last year. I was right near it. That is, I was right near the tree in which that nest is. But I can't climb a tree, so why should Hooty and Mrs. Hooty try to drive me away? They know I can't climb. Now if it had been Yowler the Bobcat, that would have been a different matter. Yowler could climb that tree and get their babies if they have any. There is something queer about it. Yes, sir, there is something queer about it."

The more Reddy thought it over the more queer the whole affair seemed. He had been struck without any warning. Only his own quickness in dodging had saved him from being struck a second time. Yet both Hooty and Mrs. Hooty was the last thing in the world he would think of doing.

"So," thought Reddy, "there are babies already!"

It was in the afternoon two days later that Reddy happened to be over in the Green Forest again. He was not far from that part where the old home of Blacky the Crow was located. He decided that he would go over to see if Hooty the Owl and Mrs. Hooty were still there. He would, however, take care that they didn't know he was about. So Reddy walked softly—and Reddy can walk softly when he wants to. Not a leaf rustled under his feet, even when he walked where the snow had melted and the leaves had dried. After a while he began to creep forward an inch at a time. At last he reached a place where he could lie flat under an overhanging hemlock bough and look up at Blacky's old nest. He had only a few moments to wait. Then Hooty arrived at the nest with food.

"So," thought Reddy, "there sure are babies already. My, but they do have their family early in the season. Hello! What under the sun is Mrs. Hooty doing down there on the ground?"

Mrs. Hooty had alighted beside a little hemlock tree just a short distance away. In her bill was a mouse. Perhaps you can guess Reddy's surprise when he saw a young Owl suddenly appear from under that little hemlock tree and greedily snatch at that mouse. Mrs. Hooty stood looking very fierce and turning her head rapidly in every direction, while her great round eyes fairly glared. It was very plain to Reddy that she was nervous.

"What under the sun is that little Owl doing down there?" thought Reddy. "It must be that it fell from the nest and cannot fly yet. Now I understand why I was attacked. I was headed toward that very place and Hooty and Mrs. Hooty were afraid I would find the baby. I wonder how young Owl would taste."

Meanwhile the hungry baby had gulped down the mouse and Mrs. Hooty was preparing to look for another. When she flew away, Hooty still remained on watch. So Reddy stayed right where he was. It was the wisest thing to do.

Big Game Huntress Wins Prison Release

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(P)—Evelyn Evans De Forest Wilson, who used to move in Washington's higher social circles when she wasn't hunting lions in Africa and Polar bears in the arctic circle, was released today from prison where she served one year for the almost fatal shooting of her husband, Dallet H. Wilson, an attorney, in his Fifth Avenue office two years ago.

With a nondescript lot of other prisoners who also were released today she rode over on the ferry through the early morning mist from Welfare Island to the East 86th street Manhattan pier.

Her lawyer, Mrs. Mary Lilly, a clergyman, and the woman's par of fier to whom she must report at regular intervals for the next two years, awaited her there.

Mrs. Wilson begged to be excused from discussing with reporters her plans for the future or any other subject on the ground that it might violate the terms of her parole, stepped into a taxi, and was quickly whisked away into the grateful isolation of a big city.

Westinghouse

"Flavor Zone" Electric Ranges Selected by Miss Jessie DeBoth

The Goodness of old-time cooking . . . in an easy, modern way

WHEN housewives of Colonial days laden their tables with savory, steaming Dutch-oven dishes, they set traditions of good cooking that only the Westinghouse "Flavor Zone" oven can equal. For this most modern of electric ovens cooks by the same method that produced the crackling brown roast turkeys, fragrant gingerbread, rich baked beans and spicy puddings of long ago. It first browns the food to perfection, then cooks it to wonderful tenderness, without any watching or tending during the whole cooking process.

You can put the entire evening meal in the cold oven when you are clearing up after lunch—or during the morning, if you want most of the day free from household duties. Then you set the clock and adjust the thermostat on the oven door. The current comes on automatically at just the right time. At just the right temperature, it is automatically shut off. Cooking continues by stored heat until everything is done to a turn. Delicious results are certain because every step in the cooking process is controlled with scientific precision. And you can always duplicate your best results.

Organist Guild Presents Program This Evening

A program of unprecedented scope and power will be presented by the Georgia chapter of the American Guild of Organists at 8 o'clock this evening in the First Presbyterian church. Dr. Charles A. Sheldon and Hugh Hodgson, each of whom have reached the very heights of their profession, have arranged a program of older and modern classics which will be illuminating, as they are presented by the combined double quartet choir of First Presbyterian church and by the chorus choir of St. Luke's Episcopal church.

The challenge which Russia has flung to the world is expressed in "The Chorus Hymn" by Cretch-anikoff, of the Greek church. With orchestral part adapted for the organ and played by Dr. Sheldon, the "Largo from C Minor Concerto," by Beethoven, will be a stellar number played by Mr. Hodgson. Few compositions are of more compelling beauty and impressiveness than the anthem "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place," from the requiem by Brahms, which will be sung by the combined choir as will the "Gloria in Excelsis," from Mozart's "Twelfth Mass." Bach will be represented in the organ prelude "Fantasia in G Minor" and in the postlude "Fugue in G minor."

Besides Mr. Hodgson and Dr. Sheldon, those taking part will include: Mrs. Charles Sheldon, Mrs. Hugh Hodgson, Miss Essie Wall, Miss Dorthea McEwin, Mrs. Eliza Carswell, Miss Margaret Alston, Mrs. J. C. Electric Cookery Is Modern Cookery

SINCE the days when primitive woman dropped hot stones into a skilful of water to change raw foods into palatably cooked dishes, we have been searching for the ideal method of cooking. That ideal has now been attained with the Electric Range. For Electricity has taken the drudgery out of cooking and changed it to an exact science—Electric Cookery.

No longer need the modern housewife spend precious hours in the laborious task of cooking on an antiquated or unsatisfactory stove or range. To the modern housewife modern Electrical Service has brought the modern method of cookery. Why should your home be without an Electric Range?

Cleaner, Safer, Simpler, More Convenient, Better Meals

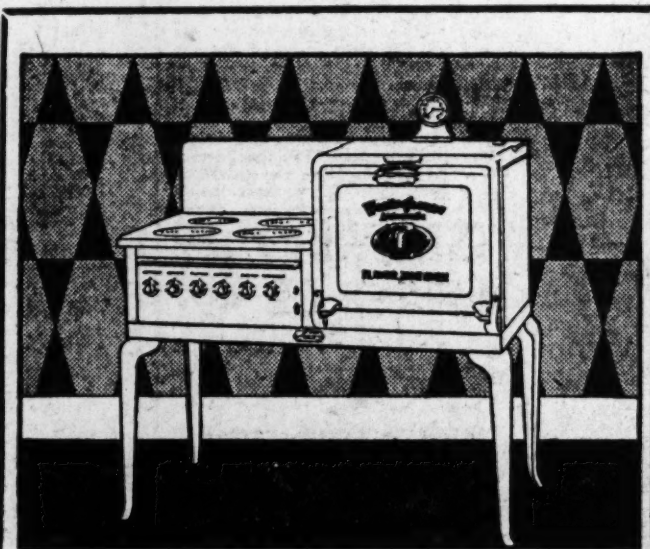

Electric Cookery never smuts pots and pans. It never smokes-up curtains and walls.

Electric Cookery is safe. There's never any harm likely to come to children as a result of their prying fingers. There are no odors from an Electric Range.

Electric Cookery is easy and simple. Any woman may become an expert cook through the operation of an Electric Range's automatic controls.

Electric Cookery is convenient and will give you more leisure hours. You may place an entire meal in the oven, set the clock at the time you wish cooking to begin, set the temperature control ... then go out for the day or afternoon and return to find your dinner deliciously cooked and ready to serve.

And—Miss DeBoth will tell you at The Constitution Free Cooking School that foods cooked in an Electric Range have a flavor unsurpassed!

Junior League Jottings

BY MRS. REGINALD SCOTT FLEET, Editor

At this time when the Junior League of Atlanta is presenting the Junior League Follies to raise money for the support of the Junior League ward in the Henrietta Eggleston Memorial Hospital for Children it might be of interest to give something of the history of the organization. When the New York Junior League recently opened its very beautiful clubhouse, the New York Times carried an account of the house and of the founding of the Junior League. The following is a quotation from this article:

"Beginning with a mere handful of members in 1901, the league has grown with the ever-widening circle of society and its scope has expanded accordingly. In the first part of the century Miss Mary Hariman, now Mrs. Charles Cary Rumsey, organized the league with a number of her friends."

"The then Miss Hariman was a student at Barnard college and many of her interests centered in college settlement work. She gave the club the name of the Junior League for the Betterment of the New York College Settlement. The work of the league was then of narrow scope and the first meetings were held in private homes.

"With the expansion of activities, in a few years the organization took a new name—the Junior League for the Promotion of the Settlement Movement. Progress again changed the name when the members undertook 'neighborhood work,' and in 1912 the present title, the Junior League of the City of New York, was adopted."

"Through the course of years a wide field of work came under the management of the Junior League. Their efforts in settlement and neighborhood improvement became widely known, and like organizations sprang up in leading cities throughout the east."

In 1912 the first National Junior League conference was held in New York with the six existing leagues in attendance. This was the beginning of the conferences which have taken place annually since 1917. At the present time there are 110 leagues in 38 states, Hawaii and Canada with a total membership of about 20,000. The Atlanta Junior League was formed in 1915 under the leadership of Mrs. William Jay McKenna, the former Miss Iseline Campbell. She interested about 30 Atlanta girls in taking up some organized philanthropic work. The field of activities of this league has expanded greatly since that time. The Atlanta league contributes its time, energies and money for the support of the ward in the Eggleston Memorial hospital. Since October 1928, when the Junior League entered upon its activities there, 700 patients have been given treatment in the ward. Junior League girls act on sewing, social service and office committees and give gladly of their time to this most worthy of charities.

BODY OF MISSING ITALIAN IS FOUND

GARY, Ind., Feb. 24.—(AP)—The body of Paul Perconti, missing leader of the Unione Siciliana, an Italian organization, was found today hidden in a quicklime crypt, sealed with concrete, under a barn on a farm near Crissman, Ind., ten miles from here. He had been shot to death.

Perconti, believed by authorities to have incurred the enmity of local bootleggers, disappeared from his home last Tuesday. He called his wife by telephone Tuesday afternoon, saying he would be home in half an hour. He never arrived. That night police received reports of a furious gun fight in the West 21st street district, following which empty cartridges were found scattered in the street. Since Thursday when Mrs. Perconti asked police to look for her husband, a search has been under way.

It was the elaborate preparations made to pour the slab of concrete over the crypt which resulted in finding the body. The deputies came to a tub in which concrete had been mixed recently, and started a search for the missing man. The time of the cementing operation had been placed, as early Sunday, for the tub, deputies said, was not on the premises when they searched the place Saturday.

Seeking the place where the concrete had been used the deputies found stains of concrete on the barn floor and investigating further discovered the shallow crypt scooped out of the earth beneath the floor of the barn. The farm is known as the Steve Johnson place and has been rented for several months since a moonshine still was found on the premises.

The body will be removed to Valparaiso for an inquest.

Perconti's brother, Joseph, was slain last year in what police said was the outcropping of a feud between alcohol distributors, and his brother John, has been sought for two years in connection with the kidnapping of 12-year-old Billy Ranieri, of Chicago, for which Angelo Petricola was sentenced to 25-year term in the Joliet (Ill.) prison.

Coral Gables Bank Robbed of $13,000

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Feb. 24.—(AP)—While streets outside teemed with winter visitors and tourists, two unmasked bandits walked into the Bank of Coral Gables at 12:45 p. m. today, took $13,000 in currency from Teller C. Hockaday and escaped in a brown coupe before anyone but the teller knew what had occurred.

Five reports of the robbery, as given out by T. H. Tumlin, cashier, said that the amount stolen, in bills ranging from $1 to $100, had been between $15,000 and $20,000. A final check of cash tonight, however, showed that the loss, covered by insurance, had been placed at the smaller figure.

Police and sheriff's deputies immediately set up a series of cordon posts on all roads leading from the city, but it was believed that the robbers escaped over the Tamiami Trail.

While one of the men stood idly in the lobby of the bank, the other went to Hockaday's cage and demanded money, the teller said. The robber who stood watch was observed by Cashier Tumlin and by one customer.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugstore. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germy laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.—(ad.)

Raided Same Place Too Often, Charged

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Twelve members of the police liquor raiding squad were ordered today to appear before the civil service commission for trial Friday on a charge of having raided the same place 61 times, each time failing to obtain liquor.

The men must answer to allegations of unwarranted and illegal raids, the execution of excessive and unnecessary damage to property and several of them face charges of swearing falsely to affidavits that liquor was to be found in the place.

The charges were made today to Commissioner Herbert W. Salus by Mrs. Mary Maronski. Seventeen of the raids, she said, were made since June 10. She displayed copies of 17 warrants covering the raids, each of them marked "nothing found." She also declared an attempt to "plant" liquor in her place had been made.

THIRTY-FIVE ARRESTED IN GARMENT STRIKE

BOSTON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Thirty-five striking garment workers on picket duty here today were arrested for violation of an old "foot-passing law" designed to prevent blocking of sidewalks. Singing a communist hymn, they were herded into patrol wagons and taken to the LaGrange Street station.

The pickets walked in pairs along Kneeland street in front of a plant where a strike has been in progress for more than a week. Police warned them against blocking the sidewalk and finally 25 officers corralled them against the building. The arrests were made without violence.

The strike is sponsored by the Needle Trade Workers' Industrial Union, which seeks a five-day 40-hour week, salaries instead of piece work, abolition of the sweatshop and pay for

Miss Deas Smith Is Belle At Oberon Ball

Miss Deas Smith, lovely sub-deb daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Smith, was one of the visiting belles attending the ball of Oberon, the first of the Mardi Gras festivities given in New Orleans, last evening. The ball of Oberon is well-known in literature as "King of the Fairies" in Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," and was held at the new municipal auditorium, the first ball to be held there, and needless to say there was a large gathering of the social world attending the event, for everyone was curious to see just what kind of spectacular setting the auditorium offered.

Miss Smith motored to New Orleans last Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, and they are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pearce, the latter having been Miss Henrietta Tupper of Atlanta. The air is tingling with the spirit of Mardi Gras in New Orleans and preparations are being made for the first parade to be featured Thursday by the Mystic Krewe of Momus preceding the annual ball at the Athenaeum. The officers of the U. S. S. Texas will attend many of the social functions scheduled for every day this week, and the presence of many visitors adds interest to all the balls.

Sewanee Coach Says Alabama Has Greatest Court Team in South

LANDIS TO PROBE FORGERY CHARGE

SEWANE COACH RATES ALABAMA AS BEST TEAM

Crimson Five Has Excellent Chance To Win Conference Tournament.

By Ralph McGill.

Speaking of the Alabama basketball team (if anyone has), it seems to be pretty well established as the favorite in the Southern conference tournament which will get off to a start at the City Auditorium Friday afternoon.

Mr. Lucien Emerson, who serves as the Chattanooga ball club by day and who coaches the Sewanee basketball team by night, in a sort of jolly-hype exuberance, thinks the Crimson Tide is the greatest basketball team in the south.

"We held them down for about 15 minutes last week," said Mr. Emerson yesterday afternoon, "but after that they burned us right down. They have a great team, the greatest Sewanee has seen and we have been pretty well over the top."

It might be mentioned that the Tigers played eight conference games and won five of them to place ninth in the standings. Their final game was with Alabama last Saturday night. And the Tusculum five won the basketball game by a 40-to-17 score. The Alabama five won 10 conference games and lost none to finish in first place. And they were able to lick a good, fast ninth-place team, 40 to 17. This is a fair indication of strength.

BEST.

"We played some of the best teams in the northern section of the conference," said the Tiger coach, "and our players thought Alabama was a bit better. They are fast, pass with unusual accuracy and bore right down to the basket. And they have some boys who can shoot them through that net."

All of which means that one of the finest basketball games of the conference will be played at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. If the Alabama five is going to go places in the tournament they must do it over the body of the Clemson five. There is just a vague idea about the conference that Colonel Josh Jolly might have been using a bit of chicken on the boys all this winter. There is some talk that he was pointing his boys for the tournament, letting them take the pre-tournament games as they came. Georgia has beaten Clemson. The Tigers played an even dozen conference games, winning eight of them. They will give the Tide a great battle. If they fall it will be very difficult to head the Alabamians off in that first bracket.

Alabama, Duke, Washington and Kentucky remain the four favorites. The list of dark horses continues to grow. Georgia is liked in this section. There are quite a few of the easy might who think that the Athens five might really set hot, as the boys say, and win the tournament.

ADDITIONS.

Meanwhile Tennessee and North Carolina have been added to the list of those who may upset the accepted order of things. The way of the dark horses, however, seems to be like the one popularly assigned to the transgressor—very hard indeed.

Just as an illustration, two of them meet in the first round, Georgia and North Carolina being opponents in the evening. When dark horse meets dark horse there is no telling what will happen. One thing, however, is sure. At least one of them will be out of it and not a dark horse at all. Tennessee has some luck, getting V. M. J., a team that outrank a bit in the final standings.

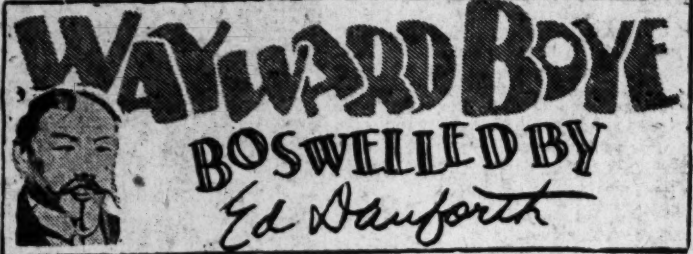

Each of the opening games contains elements of great basketball for the spectators. In fact it looks as if this one will be the greatest of all the indoor shows staged by Al Doonan and his committee.

Crimson's Nose
Ole Miss, 26-22.
UNIVERSITY, Ala., Feb. 24.—(AP)—The University of Alabama basketball team scored their 11th straight Southern conference victory tonight by outpointing Mississippi A. and M., 26-22. In their most ragged performance this year the Crimson triumphed in the last four minutes when Aiken shot a short goal with the score knotted at 22-22. Alabama led at half time, 15-9. Although pushed closely late in the game, the Tide led comfortably most of the way.

Georgia Drills
For Tournament.
ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 24.—The University of Georgia Bulldogs return to Woodruff hall tomorrow to start preparation for the Southern conference basketball tournament which opens in Atlanta Friday. Coach H. J. Stegeman allowed his men to spend Monday horseshoe riding and lounging in the spring sunshine but he has three days of hard work mapped out for them before they depart for the Gate City.

With the Bulldogs scheduled to meet the Tarheels from Chapel Hill in the opening round, much apprehension is felt in Athens over the possibility of the Athenians being eliminated on the first day of the tournament. The University of North Carolina team is regarded here as very dangerous regardless of their rather low standing in the conference rating. The boys from Chapel Hill have always given a good account of themselves in Atlanta. They have won four of the nine tournaments which have been staged. Nor will the North Carolinians come south this year on past performances alone. They held Duke to a 1-point victory at Durham in one of their recent games.

Coach Stegeman's men have finished a fairly successful season. In their 21-game schedule they have won 19 games and lost 5. They lost two games to Kentucky, one to the A. C. Furman and North Carolina State. Of their conference games, only three are recorded in the lost column. These being to Kentucky and North Carolina State.

Wayward Boye Boswelled By Ed Danforth

Police reserves and several of the scrub team were called out last night in an effort to control the excited crowd of starving men and women who tried to get into the Erlanger theater, where Wayward Boye's cooking school opened.

From the moment that it was announced that Wayward Boye, for years head chef at the Frog Pond hotel, Rochelle, Ga., would get one and all told in the matter of cooking a meal of vittles, the populace has manifested pop-eyed interests in the project.

The mere statement that Wayward would tell how to make cracklin' bread in his first demonstration caused many disorders. One divorce, six wife beatings and 85 hurried visits to mother's resulted from the keen interest manifested by the men folks.

STARVING MEN.

The crowd last night was largely made up of gaunt, pale men who were in the last stages of gastronomic insanity due to an overdose of bought rolls and thimble-cut biscuit.

Wayward's first lecture was delivered from the stage of the Erlanger theater after the last aspirin tablet had been administered to the exhausted chorus of the Junior League Follies.

The curtain disclosed Wayward attired in an apron standing beside a plain wooden table which was covered with "marble" oilcloth. On the table was a five-gallon bucket of water in which was a large dipper. In the left corner of the kitchen was a "safe" with a tin door which had been perforated with stars and crescents. On the right was a coal or wood burning range beside which was a wood box and a coal scuttle.

TOUCHING SCENE.

The scene evoked cheers from the crowd. Wayward began: "My first demonstration will be devoted exclusively to the preparation of cracklin' bread."

Although the subject had been announced in the papers, the audience was profoundly moved. Several men burst into tears.

Wayward controlled his own emotions and continued: "Without going into a eulogy on that epicurean triumph of the south known as cracklin' bread, let me proceed to explain how to procure the materials and make it."

"First and foremost, cracklin' is spelled without the final 'g.' It really is not necessary to use an apostrophe; that can come after the bread has been eaten."

"Cracklins are the crisp residue resulting from the rendering of lard. The lard, by the way, should be made in an open kettle in the back yard and stirred with an ash paddle to get the best cracklins. The cracklins when brown will float on the surface and must be skimmed off."

"Use only corn meal that has been ground in a stone burr mill. High-powered modern machinery heats the grains and much of the natural flavor of the meal is lost thereby."

"I am indebted to Carrie Pope, waitress at Rich's tea room, for the meticulous details of how to make it."

"The only materials needed are cracklins, corn meal, salt and water. Stir the meal and cracklins in a bowl with water until a consistency that will permit molding into small pones the size of your hand has been reached. Add a dash of salt to taste. No shortening other than the cracklins is needed."

"The pones may be baked in an oven or on a flat utensil called in some sections a baker. However, the best way of baking the cracklin bread is before an open fireplace. If an old-fashioned oven is used, the oven should first be heated, then the pones placed inside and under the bottom and over the lid should be placed red-hot coals."

"Cracklin bread is delicious when served with any vegetable or meat. It is ideal when used in conjunction with pot-likker."

TRAGEDY AVOIDED.

Wayward was forced to repeat the recipe several times so that everybody could copy it down.

Said a lady in the back of the hall:

"Don't you use any flour or sugar in this bread?"

Seventy men in the audience screamed piteously, "No, No!" before Wayward could recover his poise. Only the latent instincts of southern chivalry prevented bloodshed.

Tunney Entourage Reaches Miami Emory Tourney Is Under Way

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 24.—(AP)—His arrival surrounded with all the bustle of arrangements that might be expected for royalty, Gene Tunney reached Miami Beach tonight, in company with Mrs. Tunney. The former heavyweight champion sent word in advance that he sought seclusion. Arrangements, however, were made for a small dinner party with Bernard Gimbel and William F. Carey among the guests.

Tunney will be at the ringside for the Scott-Sharkey fight Thursday night but Jack Dempsey, so conspicuous a year ago in the promotion of the first battle of the palms, will not be among those present. Carey received a telegram today from Dempsey, who is in Chicago, saying the former heavyweight king regretted business would keep him away but sending his best wishes for the most attractive card of heavyweight matches ever arranged on one show.

A message of good luck for Paul Scott from the Prince of Wales, who conveyed personally to the British heavyweight today by Major Metcalfe, former royal equerry, who will witness the fight.

JACKETS MEET A. A. C. QUINTET TO END SEASON

Beamen Seek Revenge. Game Slated for Flats at 8:30 Tonight.

By Herb Clark.

Coach Joe Bean's Athletic Club basketball team will put in their major bid for revenge at the Tech court tonight. The time for the opening has been set at 8:30 o'clock.

The club quintet, you will recall, had a record of 18 straight victories when the Jacket courtmen from the Flats approached the Carnegie Way gym some time ago. And when the Jackets left by the front door with a song on their collective lips the Beamen still had 18 straight victories. The 19th game was, however, a defeat. The winning streak ended abruptly.

And the club quintet, terribly, terribly hurt by the attitude of the Jackets, could not recover in time to step back into their stride for their next game, with the Bulldogs. The Bulldogs, like the Jackets, kicked the A. A. C. team about to add another defeat to the record.

REVENGE.

Some time later the Beamen and the Bulldogs tangled again. The Bulldogs, starting with a brand of ball which made them look like winners for a second time, folded up before a blasting attack in the final period, and the Clubbers had their revenge.

Tonight the Beamen and the Jackets are to tangle again. The Beamen will be after more revenge. The loss to the Bulldogs did not hurt as much as that to Tech. For it was Tech which cracked the record. Tech, too, is not as strong as the Bulldogs. They look as though they should be, but the conference records say "No" very emphatically.

The Jackets are still staggering around in the rack. They were admitted to the conference tournament. They got in, having won 5 games in 13. Of the five victories, two were won from Auburn, two from Vanderbilt, and one from South Carolina. And those three teams accounted for two victories between them during the season. The Jackets, as indicated, are still staggering around. They have looked at times during the season, but have never been able to win when at their best. In any other degree of trim, they were much better off.

SOME COG SLIPS.

The lads at the Flats, grouped for material for a real machine. Yet they have never sold the secret of working as a unit. Some cog is ever slipping.

The cogs, however, will catch sooner or later. The Jackets are still to be accounted for in the turnover and tonight, if by bad fortune, it is later, it will be just what they need.

The Jackets took a short practice on their home court Monday afternoon and seemed to be working well. The return to service of Golden and Wages boosted the morale of the team, and speeded the action no little. Both these lads are ready for work and anxious to go.

The game tonight will close the regular season for the Engineers, who will start practice for the tourney and Tulane Wednesday.

Following the game at the Flats, the A. A. C. courtmen will entrain for Charlotte, N. C., where they play a return engagement with the Monograms Wednesday night.

The clubbers trimmed the Monograms in a last-minute rally in the first meeting of the two teams some time ago.

Petrel-A. A. C. Game Cancelled.
Oglethorpe and Atlanta Athletic Club did not meet Monday night on the A. A. C. court. The game was postponed on account of the death of Bryant Arnold, president of the Oglethorpe Athletic Club, and prominent in other school activities, who was killed Sunday night while en route to Atlanta from his home in Spartanburg, S. C. He was killed near Windsor when the automobile in which he and a party of friends were riding turned over while rounding a sharp curve.

Carnera Flattens Lodge in Second

HEINEMANN PARK, NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 24.—(UN)—Primo Carnera, huge Italian heavyweight contender, defeated Farmer Lodge to his string of American knockout victories here tonight after one minute and 22 seconds of fighting in the second round of their scheduled 10-round bout.

After flooring the veteran St. Paul heavyweight for a count of nine earlier in the round, Carnera slipped over a fast rising upstart which stretched Lodge's big body on the canvas. Then Carnera picked his opponent up and carried him to the middle of the ring.

Primo's victory was greeted with mingled cheers and boos. He weighed in at 286; Lodge weighed 235.

Favorites Win In Net Tourney
PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Favorites and seeded stars smashed their way handily to victory in the opening round of play in the annual Florida women's tennis championship tournament over the Poinciana courts here today.

Nine matches were decided by play and three by default, to bring the tournament to the second round Tuesday, with prospects of doubles play setting under way tomorrow afternoon. Drawings are scheduled for Tuesday morning.

Miss Virginia Hilleary, of Philadelphia, only ranking player in the building soda fountain until this afternoon, when the box office opens. They are going fast, as Atlanta fans recognize in this four-heavyweight match in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1.

Cracker Candidate Swings Mean Gun

Charley Hunt, the champion slugger of Rochelle, Ga., is shown above at the finish of his batting swing, using a pump gun for a bat. Hunt has been signed for a tryout next month as an outfielder in the Douglas training camp. He has been keeping in shape this winter hunting in the fields of Wilcox county. Hunt is a turn-over hitter and will be making his professional debut at Douglas. The photo was made for The Constitution by J. T. Holloway, staff photographer.

JONES WRESTLES HERE TONIGHT

Scissors King Will Meet Steinborn; Harper and Fox Mix.

Paul Jones, the Texas hook-scissors king, will pit his powerful legs against the mat's strongest man tonight at the city auditorium when he meets Earl Steinborn, the big German, in the feature match of Promoter Weber's all-heavyweight card at 8:30 o'clock. Jones, it has been estimated by those scientifically inclined, can exert a pressure of about 2,000 pounds when he constricts his legs about an opponent in the "hook-scissors."

This hold, wherein Jones hooks one leg about an opponent and under his other at the knee in the shape of a figure four, enables him to contract practically every muscle in his body and throw the co-ordinated force into his legs.

EFFECTIVE HOLD.

The pressure from the hook scissors is generally applied and even more effective than was Joe Stecher's body scissors. It is obtained only with great difficulty and this has kept Jones from going as far with his favorite hold as did Stecher.

Stecher's hold was not effective unless applied from the heart side. Jones' hold is always effective, once it is applied. No other wrestler uses it. It requires long legs and unusual agility. Jones has all those qualities.

In meeting Steinborn he engages a man who is a throw-back to the stone ages so far as strength is concerned. The big German, who can lift 300 pounds with each hand, has never been pinned without being knocked out first. It will be interesting to watch what he can do with Jones. Jones does not deal in knockout methods. He pins his men.

FOX AND HARPER.

Charley Fox, the Cleveland "Tiger," meets Paul Harper in the semi-wind-up match. Fox, who is a rough and ready customer at all times, has laughingly said that Harper is just a sheik wrestler who isn't any good after he gets his hair mussed. Atlanta fans who have seen Harper know him to be one of the best heavyweights in the game so far as skill is concerned.

FOX will have all the feminine fans supporting his opponent's efforts. Harper is a favorite with them. They always shudder when an opponent punishes him and scream with delight when he is applying pressure to his foe.

Tickets will be on sale at the Piedmont Hatters and at the Candler building soda fountain until this afternoon, when the box office opens. They are going fast, as Atlanta fans recognize in this four-heavyweight match in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1.

Kick Brothers Land Places With Jackets

Graydon, Dunlap and Boner Polish Up on Kicking; Extra Points Seen for Tornado.

By Ralph McGill.

Just when all the football world was wearing a black band on its sleeve as a mark of mourning for the death of the Kick brothers, Place and Drop, what should The Man at the Flats do but bob up with three of them.

Honestly, if he had walked in with three Dodo goslings the football gentry would have been no more surprised. It seems that quite a lot of the spring practice has been devoted to that lost art with the result that the Jackets will be able to unload additional grief for opponents next fall.

Doug Graydon, substitute halfback last fall, is getting the ball over the bar with accuracy from the 20, 25 and 30-yard lines on place kicks. Just tack an extra 10 yards on that to cover the extra distance to the posts and it will be seen that he is kicking well. The 30-yard line is a fine thing in the game next fall and also that the points after touchdowns will come with something approaching regularity.

"I am glad to see the kickers develop," said Mister W. A. Alexander, the Man at the Flats, yesterday afternoon as he discussed them. "There are times when a field goal is very valuable."

ONE GREAT SPOT.
"There is one great spot for a field goal," he said. "That is in the second quarter when you've scored a touchdown. I don't like to score first with a field goal. A team always lets down a little after that. And usually gets beat. But if you have one touchdown on a team and can add another 3 points late in the second quarter it will take a lot of steam out of them and very likely win a game for you."

"It means that the other team has got to score a touchdown to beat you or kick a field goal to tie. Very few of them have any kickers. Since the goal posts were moved back few coaches have time to work with a kicker. It isn't that so much. It is finding a boy who has the patience to stick to it. I am very gratified at the development of Graydon, Boner and Dunlap in the kicking of field goals."

The Man at the Flats further revealed that he intended having plenty of punters next fall. He has even gone so far as to teach Tom Jones the best one to date.

LETTER SENT NICK CULLOP REOPENS CASE

Commissioner Talks With Spiller Today on Alleged "Cover-Up."

By Ed Danforth.

Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball, will confer privately today with R. J. Spiller, business manager of the Cracker, over an alleged forged letter on which Nick Cullop based a plea for being made a free agent recently. The case, considered settled at the National association meeting in Chattanooga in December, is being reopened with the debateable letter definitely inserted as the central exhibit.

Judge Landis will arrive in Atlanta this morning and will confer with Mr. Spiller at 10:30 o'clock at the Atlanta Biltmore.

THE CASE.
Cullop, former Cracker outfielder, when sold to Milwaukee asked Judge Landis that he be made a free agent. He offered as grounds a letter purporting to have been written him by Mr. Spiller which showed he was an illegally "covered-up" ball player. The signature to the letter is forged, Mr. Spiller says. The judge will decide all about the matter.

The devious turns and twists of baseball law, so puzzling to the layman but so important to player and club owner, will be unraveled and neatly rolled up before the judge leaves town. The matter of forgery lends an air of unusual depth to the case.

When the legal issue is decided the judge will be invited to join Bobby Jones in a round at East Lake Country Club. Bobby has said he will be glad to play if the judge has time to try out the course.

Aside from the anticipated visit of The Man, no startling developments were recorded on the seismograph at Spiller field.

A HOLDOUT.
Johnny Jones, the shortstop, now is officially regarded as a holdout. Sixteen others have kept their contracts at home or have returned them unsigned with requests for more money. However these do not come under the holdout classification as it prevails here.

Frank Walker, former manager and outfielder of the Greenville Sally league club, has promised to sign a Cracker contract. This adds a fine hitter to the list as well as increases the number of ex-managers on Johnny Dobbs' string to astounding proportions.

"Red" Oldham, the effective southpaw, signed up without a struggle. He already is here, having motored in from California. New Orleans. The first division of the Cracker training camp party will move out of the city and to Douglas next Sunday. A special train will report from time to time during the first week.

C. E. Johnston, the American Association umpire, will sell insurance here in the off season. He has been engaged to umpire the Cracker's spring games.

Sand Fiddler Wins Feature

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Sand Fiddler, a three-year-old gelding from the Mulrick stable, accounted for the three-year-old gelding, Hialeah park, Miami, today.

The gelding son of Dunlin had been knocking at the door since the fall of 1929. He had been in the hands of several trainers, but his efforts always found him either in second or third positions or out of the money at the finish.

With Jockey Lohmann up, Sand Fiddler exhibited his usual early speed and then hung on through the stretch of the mile journey to defeat W. J. Salmon in a battle by a length. H. H. Davis, Jr.'s, Politen finished third. The winner covered the eight furlongs in 1:40 and paid 3 to 1.

The $250,000 purse was won. The race was overshadowed by the brilliant riding of Apprentice Kenneth Russell. Following his brilliant performance of last week, Russell today was up on Comet and Saucy Sue, winners of the sixth and seventh races, respectively. In addition, he rode Porteur and Golden Week, the diamonds, into second and money in the second and fifth numbers. His ride on Golden West was in the feature number, in which he showed his class by a single stroke behind Horton Smith, Detroit golfer ace, and six strokes ahead of Bobby Cruikshank, the wee Scot from Purchase, N. Y., who captured second money with a 255.

Bobby said that he could not state definitely at this time as to whether he would participate in the Augusta tournament, but that he was planning to join the large field of professionals there if he could spend the time away from his law practice here.

Tilden and Coen Win in Doubles

BEAULIEU, France, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Bill Tilden and Wilbur F. Coen, Jr., American's first and eighth ranking tennis players, won the doubles title in the Beaulieu tournament, defeating Dr. Daniel Pann and Heinrich Klein, a German team, by scores of 6-0, 6-2, 6-4 in the finals today.

Charley Moore Stated To Manage Peaches

MACON, Ga., Feb. 24.—Nap Rucker, the famous major league southpaw of other years and now chief scout of the Brooklyn Dodgers, announced tonight that Charley Moore, former Macon star catcher and who won a pennant at Rocky Mount, of the Eastern Carolina league, had been agreed upon as 1930 manager of the Macon Peaches, Brooklyn's Sally league farm, provided Moore and Brooklyn officials could reach a satisfactory salary arrangement.

Moore, who is vacationing in Florida, will come to Macon next Thursday for a conference with Rucker, although no hitch on the terms of pay is expected to develop.

Wilbur Good, former Atlanta and Macon manager, made an effort to buy the local club, but four local men whom he had lined up as associates in the venture, were afraid to go through with it, and that left Good without the necessary financial backing to go through with the deal. Rucker stated that prospects for a winning club were excellent and that every effort would be made to give Macon a winning team.

Shields Takes Tennis Too Lightly To Reach Top, Richards Says

NEW YORK BOY HAS MAKINGS OF CHAMPION

Frank Is Tough Customer on Court But Lacks Real Spirit.

This is one of a series of stories in which Vincent Richards is analyzing the playing ability of the men chosen for this year's United States Davis cup squad.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—There is no player in this country, I might even say the world, more splendidly endowed for tennis than Frank Shields, New York.

He has everything needed for a champion. He has the build—the same build Tilden has—tall, slender, long legs and long arms.

He has the strokes, with not a single weakness in his repertoire; he has had the benefit of the best coaching; he has beautiful form and he has an even-tempered disposition. What more could one ask?

THE ANSWER.

Why, then, isn't Frank the best prospect among all our young players? The answer is that this young man has not shown the desire to take the game quite as seriously as some of his less fortunately equipped rivals. He likes the game for the fun in it, and will not take it seriously enough to go into strict training.

That is his own business, and perhaps he is wiser than those who criticize him. I am not judging him on this, but in weighing his future and particularly his chances of making the Davis cup team in 1930 a great deal of consideration must be given his mental attitude.

If Frank took the game as seriously, say, as Berkeley Bell or Johnny Van Ryn, I don't think there would be any question of his reaching the top within a couple of years. He has splendid ground strokes—he is to be feared when he goes to the net because of his reach and height—and he has one of the finest services. When he is primed and on top of his game, not even Tilden can take chances with him.

DOWN TO BUSINESS. During the last year or so Shields has shown signs of taking the game as seriously as the tennis officials would wish. And it may be that this coming season will find him getting down strictly to business. If he does then all the other candidates for the squad can take warning and watch out for him.

Last year in the national championship at Forest Hills this tall, spare young man showed what he can do when he wants to play in earnest. His match with Tilden stood out as one of the gripping battles of the tournament.

Tilden lost the first set and it was not until 26 games had been played that he won the third, by the drawn-out score of 14-12. That third set was the occasion of some of the most dramatic moments the championship had produced in many a year, and the crowd was so wholeheartedly with Shields that Tilden almost threatened to leave the court and defeat.

TERRIFIC BATTLE. Frank showed how game a player he could be in this match. He was seized with a violent cramp in his leg when he went spinning to the ground in trying to get to the net in the face of one of "Big Bill's" slams, and it was some time before he was able to get on his legs again. Instead of slowing up or losing courage, as some players might, he fought all the harder and gave Tilden a terrific battle be-

Hudson Pilots Dog to Victory

SELMIA, Ala., Feb. 24.—"Count," owned by Otley and Hudson, of Atlanta, and handled by Scott Hudson, was runner-up to Pettis Scotch, owned by L. J. Pettis, and took second place in the derby stake of the Central Alabama Field Trials Club in their seventh annual trials held near here Monday.

"Ballast," owned by Hugh Seales, took third place. Six brace of dogs were run in the derby and also several were run in the all-age stakes.

Hooper Signs Up Johnson, Curtis

Henry Johnson, of Pensacola, Fla., colored middleweight champion of Dixie, and Kid Curtis, of the fifth ward, have been signed for 10 rounds as the feature of an all-color boxing card to be staged next Monday night in Roby's gym in a 38-1-2 Decatur street.

The bouts will be promoted by Billy Hooper, who has given the fans plenty of action in his former programs.

Cowboy Kid and Kid Moon, two fast young fighters, will mix it in the semi-windup. Those two put up a great scrap on Roby's card at the Atlanta theater in December.

James Stafford and Kid Henry, Jack Thompson and Lightning Howard, George Cooper and Big Boy Connell are others who will appear in the preliminaries.

John Law Signed Head Grid Coach

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(AP)—John Law, former Notre Dame football captain, has become head football coach at Manhattan college here. Law succeeded Joseph K. Schwarzer, resigned.

Law was named as assistant to Schwarzer some weeks ago and was moved up to the head coach's position when Schwarzer resigned to enter business.

fore finally going down in the fourth set.

Anyone who can play tennis as magnificently and as gamely as Shields did in this match should have a big future and there is no question in his mind if he wants to make the sacrifice called for and settle down to business.

Shields won the national junior championship in 1927 and 1928 and in the latter year he was ranked as the tenth best player in the country. If he could rank tenth without making any effort, how much higher could he go if he tried hard?

EXPECTED TO CHANGE. That is the question 1930 will answer. I believe Shields may be expected to show an entirely different attitude from now on. After all, he is still in his teens and he has at least 10 years of his best tennis ahead.

Shields' inclusion in the Davis cup squad should do a great deal to put him in the proper frame of mind and if he gets the chance I would not be surprised to see him beat out some of the better fancied candidates for the team.

Tilden is the only one who would be a clear-cut favorite to beat Shields at his best, and I am not sure "Big Bill" will be able to turn the trick this year. Frank gave him so tough a battle last year that, with the added confidence Shields should have gained from that showing, he might go out on the court any time and turn the tables on Tilden.

Keep your eye on this young man from now on, and don't be surprised if he makes the team.

TABERSKI BEATS GREENLEAF HERE IN EXHIBITIONS

Pocket Billiard Artist To Appear in Two Matches Today.

Frank Taberski, former national pocket billiard champion, defeated Ralph Greenleaf, dapper young world's champion, in two matches Monday at York's recreation parlors on North Pryor street. Taberski defeated Greenleaf 100 to 92 in the afternoon match and 100 to 89 in the night match.

There was nothing spectacular about the afternoon match and the high run was 54, made by Greenleaf in the eighth inning. Taberski's high run was 28, made in the second inning. Greenleaf scratched 19 times and Taberski 28 in the afternoon watches.

The young world's champion gave the spectators some spectacular shots in the night match. He broke and missed and then played them safe without scoring for three successive innings, and scratched twice in doing so. He then ran 96 consecutive balls for the high run of the match but had two losses. He followed with two scratches, a miss and three successive scratches for which he forfeited 15 balls, plus three for scratches, leaving him a net of 74. In his next attempt he ran 15 before missing.

The former champion, in his first inning, ran a total of 70 billiards before missing. He played it safe for two innings and missed the next four. He then ran a net of 12 and after three scoreless innings he ran out with 21.

The night match was by far the most interesting of the two and some champion shots were given the spectators. Following the match an exhibition of trick shots was given.

Two matches, at 3 o'clock this afternoon and 8:30 o'clock tonight, will end the champion's stay in Atlanta.

DAVIDSON MATMAN Improving Rapidly

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Henry Edward Russell, Davidson college wrestler and son of Chief Justice Richard R. Russell, of the supreme court of Georgia, is improving rapidly at a local hospital.

Young Russell suffered the fracture of three vertebrae in a wrestling match between Davidson and North Carolina State college several weeks ago.

Chief Justice and Mrs. Russell are here with their son. The chief justice expects to return to Atlanta tomorrow.

The SPORTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

Mother Goose on the Miami Show. Jack and Phil were on the bill. All set for tossing leather; Will Jack sock Scott, Or Scott sock Jack. Say this fast and break your back, Hickory, Dickory, Dock.

Hickory, Dickory, Dock. Who will carry the sock? Will Jack sock Scott, Or Scott sock Jack. Say this fast and break your back, Hickory, Dickory, Dock.

Hey, Diddle, Diddle. Right in the middle; Who'll be the first to swoon? They may get more money Than Dempsey and Tunney, And the cow may jump over the moon.

Who Will Be Which?

On a straightway look at the Sharkey-Scott outcome there ought to be only one result. Sharkey should win in five or six rounds, perhaps sooner. But in the case of these there are various complications to consider in nominating the man to meet Schmeling for the heavyweight championship. Take the case of Sharkey. If you happen to be in a talking mood. Will he be the Sharkey who whipped Wills, Maloney and Loughran, or will he be the Sharkey who fought Dempsey, Heeneey and Risko?

The Boston scrapper happens to be two different people—a great fighter when he wants to be, and barely an ordinary heavyweight when he feels that way about it.

Sharkey at his best should stop Scott in about four rounds. Sharkey at his worst can fiddle around an entire round, give Scott confidence and lose the decision. The Sharkey who fought Wills and Maloney and who tore into Dempsey and Loughran was an entirely different Sharkey from the fighter who muddled around against Risko and Heeneey and who in turn was no part of a hurricane against Strickling.

The same goes for Scott. The Scott who met Hansen and von Porat was not the same Scott who stopped Monte Munn and gave Risko a buy.

Considering all these details Sharkey has thrown away enough chances without tossing off any more. This makes his third big shot in the direction of an opening leading to the heavyweight kingdom, and he isn't likely to spill it through carelessness. If he is beaten this time he will probably get another. If he can't beat Phil Scott he isn't championship material.

What Chance Has Scott?

Tommy Armour, one of the best of all the golfers, is also a keen camper-follower of the fighting game. He saw Scott much earlier in his career and has watched him left hand his way to more than one decision.

"In spite of all the dope," Armour says, "I think Scott has a big chance. He has a fine left hand and a fine left hand means a lot in boxing as it does in golf. If Scott can jab his way through the first four rounds and stay on his feet that long I believe he will win. I know he doesn't start any too fast, but when he gets warmed up in a hard man to beat. Hansen caught him before he knew what happened. Munn was a slower starter and later on took a bad beating."

"Risko failed to catch him in the first few rounds and Scott was winning when this battle ended. Campolo is no set up for any one, and Campolo couldn't beat him. Campolo is a faster and harder hitter than Sharkey, but he isn't as experienced or as good a boxer. It's a good gamble that Sharkey won't find Scott a Loughran. Scott's left hand can sting and jolt and he can hit a d with it."

The Aftermath.

As the Sharkey-Scott meeting leads to an important aftermath in regard to the heavyweight championship it is worth considering in every detail. If Sharkey wins, as Sharkey ought to do, there will be no complications. Sharkey and Schmeling will then close out the final act in June.

But if Scott happens to upset the dope by outpointing the Boston fighter the entire situation will be full of knots. Sharkey will be eliminated and the scene may shift to Europe with Scott, Carners and Schmeling leading the parade. The European boxing federation won't consider any other American fighter at this time and if Sharkey isn't good enough to win there is no particular reason why any one else should be logged in. It would be a double body punch to American boxing if Scott outpointed Sharkey and Campolo gave Risko a first class smearing.

Before these complications arise Scott must first whip Sharkey. And as erratic as Sharkey has been in the past it is hard to believe that he will throw away his last chance without giving everything he has. If he does this he will win. He may even win in two or three rounds. But this doesn't happen to be a spot in which to do any loafing and let the tall Britisher get his confidence and his range.

Mercer Gets Bye In Tourney Opener

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Eskine, the local star, S. J. A. A. conference basketball race; Millaps college, the University of Louisville and Mercer were named heat leaders in annual tournament which will start here Wednesday afternoon.

Widener Leading Hialeah Winner

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 24.—(AP)—With $9,400 accumulated in purses, George E. Widener, Philadelphia sportsman, tops the winning list of owners for the first 33 days of racing at Hialeah Park.

The amount, won chiefly by the brilliant performances of Partisan and St. Prisca, is nearly double that won by the Brannan stable. Horses from the latter stable have piled up $5,905.

Jack Howard, who won the Miami Jockey Club handicap with Islam, ranks third with $5,610, while E. E. McCann and the Harrod brothers are close behind with $5,560 each.

KID CATCHERS ADORN JUNIOR LOOP ROSTERS

Detroit To Try Out Four Youthful Backstops This Spring.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—American league clubs will look over several young catchers at the training camps in March. This is particularly true of Detroit, which is retaining Bill Hargrave, Bubbles' younger brother, and Mervyn Shea and adding Heyworth, recalled from Toledo; Steinbeck, purchased from Seattle, and Roman, purchased from Toronto.

Boston has recalled Ashbjornson and Connolly from Pittsfield and is trying out Orace Powers, a free agent. Asby was one of the leading batters in the Eastern league, while Connolly hit .302 in 108 games.

Cleveland has bought Bud Frank from Terre Haute, where he caught 3 games in 1929. New York has recalled Arndt Jorgens from Jersey City and purchased W. J. Kunkle from the Springfield club of the Eastern league. In addition to having purchased Bubbles Hargrave, capable veteran, from St. Paul.

St. Louis has added no young receivers, but has purchased Hungling, a veteran from Buffalo. The only rookie catcher on the

Georgia Varsity Scores Four Touchdowns on Frosh in Scrimmage

AUSTIE DOWNES RUNS 60 YARDS; LINE EFFECTIVE

Mehre Admits He Is Pleased With Showing of Squad.

By Buck Anderson.

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 24.—Georgia's star first-string backfield—Messrs. Downes, Dickens, Chandler and Roberts—sidestepped and ran their way to four touchdowns against the freshman team this afternoon, and Coach Harry Mehre expressed himself as satisfied with the work of the four regulars, one of the few times this spring that he has committed himself to praise of the varsity.

With the possibility that this is the last week of spring practice, the regulars began clicking this afternoon and with almost perfect interference from the line, which had a few freshmen in it, the backs marched down in the field. The regulars are not assured that this is their last week, as Coach Mehre has remained silent on the subject, beyond casting a few helpful hints.

The backfield played that steady, consistent, ground-gaining football that won six games last fall against some of the strongest opposition the country had to offer.

Austie Downes made the prettiest play that has been seen during the scrimmage this spring. The varsity had the ball in the shadow of its own goal line with about 50 yards to go. Austie grabbed the ball from "Tex" Collins at center, and behind perfect interference ran 60 yards down the field before a freshman end and a tackle crowded him out of bounds. Austie eluded three men handily to get started on his run, and his running brought back memories of the way he returned punts last fall. And, too, Spurgeon Chandler, Marion Dickens and Jack Roberts were not to be denied this afternoon. Chandler was tossing the pigskin this afternoon and Mister Dickens was very often on the receiving end, what times Captain-elect Herb Maffett didn't get down the field to receive the pigskin. And Dickens did their share of the ground gaining and touchdown scoring this afternoon.

Scott-Sharkey Finish Workouts for Bout

Boston Jack Looks Particularly Impressive in Monday's Session, Slamming Partners About.

By Alan Gould.
Associated Press Sports Editor.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Any lingering doubt about Jack Sharkey's condition for his 15-round match Thursday night with Phil Scott, or any question that he may be a trifle stale, seemed effectively dispelled today by the Boston sailor's final workout with the gloves.

Sharkey hardly could have looked more impressive than he did in battering three sparring partners around the ring in as many rounds. He was on his toes, aggressive and punching with the well-known Sharkey savagery in successive settees with Pierre Charles, Johnny Grosso and Moise Bouquillon, the international sparring staff.

Sharkey prefers to say it with his fists. There is not the slightest question in his own mind about giving him a knockout quickly but the big Lithuanian no longer is the loquacious one. Gone is the bragadoct that marked his early rise as a heavyweight against such men as Harry Wills and Jimmy Maloney. He looked the part of a calm, perfectly-conditioned fighting machine this afternoon.

Sharkey's trainer, Al Lacey, ridiculed the idea that his man has gone stale in the last.

"Jack is in perfect shape," said Lacey. "He hasn't an ache, a pain or a sore spot on his body. He has broadened and filled out, and he is a lot more powerful in his punches. He is fully an inch bigger around the shoulders and chest than a few months ago. He is boxing better and time has left more effectively than I have ever seen him."

"The mental attitude is where you look for stales first and Sharkey is keener today than ever in that respect."

"If there are any fears about Sharkey or what he will do to Scott, they may be based on the fact that the Boston sailor looks almost too good. The boys are going around wondering whether the bout can possibly be as one-sided as they expect."

Scott's condition appears satisfactory but the Englishman has yet to give of the aspects the impression that he can hit hard enough to damage Sharkey or offer a defense to the American's hard-hitting attack.

Phil's snaky left jab may worry Sharkey but it takes more than that to win this affair.

Sharkey and Scott have both concluded their ring work. Jack will play a round of golf tomorrow and do some light exercising. Scott will punch the bag and limber up otherwise. Sharkey is expected to weigh about 197 and Scott 203 on the official scales Thursday afternoon.

Today's developments on the battle front otherwise included reports of some stimulation in box office sales and the statement of William F. Carey, Madison Square Garden president, before leaving tonight for New York, that Miami will continue to witness mid-winter heavyweight festivities for at least three more years.

The Garden contract with the city of Miami has thus much longer to run and Carey made it clear future plans would be unaffected by the possibility of no more than "breaking even" on this week's show.

"I believe we have arranged the best available heavyweight card this winter. In spite of a lack of appeal in the main event," said Mr. Carey, "I have confidence in the future of big fights here. We will be back with a bigger and better show in 1931."

It is understood anything over $225,000 in total sales will mean profit. Mr. Carey is optimistic this figure may be passed but will be satisfied if it is reached. Cash on hand at the close of the box office tonight was about $55,000.

The Yankees have hit 1200 home runs in 10 years, and Ruth has made almost half of them.

GIANT SLUGGER GETS FOUR HITS IN FIRST TILT

Sam Leslie Has Two Triples, Double, Single for Perfect Day.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Feb. 24.—(UN)—Sam Leslie, the slugging first-baseman the Giants are attempting to convert into an outfielder, occupied the spotlight as the Giants went through their first practice game, won by the Whites, who defeated the Grays 16 to 10. Leslie hit two triples, a double and a single in four official trips. Jack Scott, who played right field for the victors, hit five out of five and stole a base.

Manager McGraw is expected to tomorrow night.

Three Holdouts Barred by Braves.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 24.—(UN)—Pitchers Ed Brandt, Ben Santwell and Johnnie Conner were barred from the opening workout of the Boston Braves today.

Manager Bill McKelvie explained that in sending out contracts players were warned that only those who had agreed to terms would be welcome at training camp. None of the trio of pitchers has signed contracts, and although two of them were granted salary increases and the other was offered the same salary as in 1929.

17 Robins Workout.

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 24.—(UN)—Coaches Otto Miller and Ivan Olson had 17 players in uniform for the Brooklyn Robins' opening spring training practice today.

Piters Morrison, Newsome, Clark and Phelps took turns tossing to the batters.

First Baseman Del Bissonette, recently discharged from the hospital after three operations, hit the first ball pitched over the right-field fence. The workout was too vigorous and Bissonette was forced to quit early.

Cub Rookie Is Injured.

AVAILON, Catalina Island, Cal., Feb. 24.—(UN)—The first injury of the spring training season in the Chicago Cubs camp occurred today when Lewis Warneke, a rookie pitcher, was hit above the eye by a bat.

The bat was thrown by Bill McAvoy, another rookie twirler, during practice. Three stitches were taken above Warneke's eye. The pitchers and catchers worked out for two hours today.

Dick Glendon Out Of Gotham Hospital

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Dick Glendon, head rowing coach at Columbia, has been discharged from the St. Francis hospital, where he has been recuperating from an appendix operation performed February 8.

Columbia's spring rowing practice has been directed by Glendon's younger brother, Hugh, coach of the champion Columbia lightweight crew. Dick plans to resume his rowing duties to ward the end of the present week.

The Oasis Gets Ready.

BISKRA-IN-THE-SAHARA, Feb. 24.—Great news has come over the wire. There is a trainload of Americans coming into the desert from the big sea-going camp of wood which has come to Algeria. The sheiks who have been riding around the town on bicycles have turned them in to the garage and have got out their camels and their Arabian steeds.

The Chamber of Commerce of Biskra has warned the sheiks that the Americans do not like to see them riding on bicycles or automobiles, because they never saw an Arab on a bicycle in a cinema. Here you seldom see an Arab off a bicycle unless he gets a puncture. The main street of Biskra looks like Madison Square Garden with the six-day race on.

They have taken the muzzin away from his winter plowing further back in the oasis and ordered him to stick around the mosque, prepared to sound off the call for prayer as soon as the train bearing the Americans backs into the gate. The muzzin is sorer than a pup about it, because his farm in the oasis is just ready for the plowing.

But if an American tourist does not hear the muzzin calling for prayer the minute he hits town he will start to suspect that the mosque has gone democratic and that the oasis itself is not on the level. If they do not like this oasis they will go to some other oasis, and the Sahara Desert seems to be just one oasis after another. The Americans can take an oasis or leave it alone.

It looks like a good afternoon to land a nomad tribe of American tourists, because it is a cinch that it is going to rain, and if it does the captives will be here for a week at least. When they get out they will be as free from Algerian francs as a French bathroom is from soap.

Our party has just made a great geological discovery. The floor of the Sahara Desert in this sector is composed entirely of the same material they use to cover fly paper. When it rains and the time of the year it rains frequently anything that lights in Biskra sticks there, including automobiles and airplanes.

After the rain has stopped for a week or two it is possible to get the tourists out of the cement that forms around them by blasting. Experienced travelers in these parts always carry a small can of blasting powder and a small pocket drill with them, though the tourist hotels will blast out their own patrons if they happen to be cemented in at the time they are due to come through with the addition.

It might be worth while for some of the Florida hotel men to ship large quantities of this Sahara gumbo to the resorts in Florida. Many a visitor to Florida takes the next train out when he gets the rates, but if the streets of Miami were paved with this fly-paper gum of the Saharas the hotel men would have the tourists just where they wanted them.

From what I gather, they use the stuff for catching camels. All that they have to do is to fix some of it around where the camels graze overnight. In the morning they walk out with crowbars and chisel out as many camels as they happen to need. Instead of hitching posts for the Arab steeds, which are notably restless, they lead the horse over to a mud hole in the oasis, and there he stays until he is ready to be re-ridden, when they shovel him out.

Prisoners are held in the same way. They march them into a wet paste for the duration of their sentences. The fate of a life prisoner with his dogs in a cage in something harder than concrete is terrible to contemplate.

An Arabian magistrate would only sentence Christians to that ordeal.

Eliminating the Camels.

Motors seem to have demoralized the Arabians of Algeria completely from the picturesque side. A sheik in the good old days might have looked like something on a prancing Arabian steed, but when you put him on a bicycle or on top of a jitney bus he does not look like much. They tell me that some of the sheiks have become so used to a bicycle that they find it hard to stay on a horse long enough to look impressive when the five-fifteen comes in with the tourists.

As for camels, the motor buses seem to have put them out of business entirely, and a used camel which is no longer of any use is about the most useless thing there is. Only the Christian tourists and the Arabian paupers ride camels these days. An Arab of Biskra could not sit on one any more without getting seasick or camelick.

Of course, with motors the Arabs can move faster. But what is the use of that? The Arabs have been wandering for thousands of years, but they never have gotten anywhere yet, and a little more speed is not likely to take them anywhere in particular.

Henry Ford did the same thing to the great southwest of the United States.

Where once the cowboys rode on their cayuses after the Texas long-horns, the little motor cars now round up the blooded Herefords or Holsteins. There is not a pair of long-horns anywhere excepting in the museum at San Antonio, which used to be the Buckhorn saloon and used to sell a good glass of beer. As for chaps, they have a few artificial ones in Hollywood, and the only other east of the Rockies are owned by Tex Austin and Buck O'Neil.

In about ten years more the people of Biskra will be paying a franc to see Mr. Ringling's camels, if he ever brings his circus to North Africa. The ship of the desert is going the way of the clipper ship.

Columbus Contract Signed by Krueger

COLUMBUS, Ga., Feb. 24.—(AP)—With the signing of Clarence Krueger today the Columbus Southeastern Baseball league roster was brought to 11. Krueger, a pitcher, was with Savannah in 1929.

The other players who have signed contracts are Tighe Stone, Paul Doss, Hugh Day, Watson Kenyon, Bill Parks, Bill Ferebee, pitchers; Lennox and Lee, outfielders, and Holbrook and Westmoreland, catchers.

W. & L. Ends Fine Wrestling Year

LEXINGTON, Va., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Washington and Lee closed a victorious wrestling season here this afternoon when Coach Mathis' grapplers downed Duke, last year's Southern conference champions, in a dual meet, 22 to 6. The Generals won two falls and four time decisions, losing only the 115 and 135 events by time.

Today's victory was the sixth for Washington and Lee out of a six-day series of duals. The team has a total of 165 points to 35 for the combined opposition furnished by William and Mary, Army, Virginia, North Carolina State, V. P. I. and Duke.

Bloor looked into the fire. "I figure it out," he explained. "That he gets it in two ways. The first is fear. Now in your records you will find that there are six cases within the last five months of men having been found dead with no certainty as to whether they had committed suicide or been murdered. We let it go at that, but we know all about it. Five out of the six, at any rate, were Joseph's men—not in the inner circle, but at given away just the trifle they knew about the gang and the mysterious chief they never saw. They got theirs, anyhow, though their information wasn't worth listening to. The first bold Joseph has over them, Major, is fear."

"And the second?"

"Self-interest. Now there was a young fellow, Hobson, got three years some time ago. He really could have told us something, for we are convinced that he'd acted as Joseph's secretary. He hadn't a penny when he went to prison, nor a relative in the world. He came out six weeks ago. He was married almost at once. He got a small motor car, and he's back at his original job of tailoring down in Wandsworth. Joseph looks after him. Hobson went to prison cheerfully, because he knew that, when he came out, he was going to be cared for."

Smart made a brief appearance with whisky and soda. I filled our glasses and my pipe. Then Bloor asked me a question concerning the matter I knew had been puzzling him.

"Supposing you tell me now what you were doing with the family Bible when I came in?"

"I will, with pleasure," I assented. "But, first of all, do you know anything about Mr. Leopold, a brother of Lady Bonafant?"

"The man who took you to the Blue Skies?"

I nodded.

"He took us there, and I am convinced that he knew what was going to happen to me when he made an excuse for getting me into the secretary's office. It was he, according to his own story, who put Miss Esalter into a taxi to go home. I have come to the conclusion that Leopold is one of Joseph's West End associates."

Bloor was listening intently.

"For that reason, I went on, 'when I saw him yesterday morning I resisted my first impulse to take him by the throat and choke the life out of him. I decided that wouldn't do any good. I pretended to accept his story. I had a cocktail with him at Claridge's and I stole a letter out of his overcoat pocket.'"

"Good for you," my companion murmured. "What was in the letter?"

I passed it across to him. He glanced through it and shook his head.

"I'm afraid it is scarcely worth while taking it to our code department," he pronounced.

"Why not?"

"Because it is obviously one of those codes made up by arrangement between two people, and probably changed with every communication. It wouldn't lend itself to any form of regular transcription. The only thing you could do would be to get hold of the key—the particular one, I mean, upon which this is based. Now this was sent, you say, to Leopold."

"Very well, somewhere in Leopold's possession you might find a corresponding cipher, but even that is not necessary. It could be based upon magazine, anything, but unless you knew what it was, you might try in vain to decipher the thing."

"What about a book?" I suggested.

"A book certainly, but then what book? You see that would probably be decided upon viva voce."

"What about the Bible?"

"Quite a possibility. Where did you get the idea from, though?"

"Well, I'll tell you. I went to Leopold's rooms tonight. He had a magnificent collection of books, but only one looked as though it had been disturbed for weeks—the Bible."

Bloor came over and patted me on the back.

"Well, Major," he exclaimed, "you've got more of our instinct than I gave you credit for. Let's get at it."

We pondered over the code for some minutes and then made our first essay. Number 2 we took as being the second book of the Old Testament; 30 we accepted as the chapter; 21 as the verse. I counted the words until I arrived at 20. A queer little whistle broke from Bloor's lips. The verse was this:

"And they did bind the breastplate by his rings into the rings of the ephod with a lace of blue, that it might be above the curious girdle of the ephod, and that the breastplate might not be loosed from the ephod; as the Lord commanded Moses. And the 20th word was BLUE!"

After that we went at it breathlessly. Eighteen was the book of Job, and the eighteenth verse of the thirty-seventh chapter was:

"Hast thou with him spread out the sky, which is strong, and as a molten looking glass?"

And the eighth word was sky.

The first book was Genesis, and the nineteenth verse of the first chapter ran as follows:

"And the evening and the morning were the fourth day."

"Blue Sky Thursday!" Bloor exclaimed.

An hour or so later, we were at the entrance to the Blue Skies Club. Bloor looked around. Across the street a man was selling matches; another had a bundle of papers under his arm. A taxi driver was seated upon the front seat of his vehicle, smoking and reading. A chauffeur, in a small two-wheeled cab, was facing him on the other side of the street. There was plenty of space between them for anyone to take up or set down a passenger at the club, but their places were so arranged that anyone passing in or out would be within their reach. Bloor beckoned to the newspaper man, who touched his hat and hurried to the Oxford street end. "Apple" is the word, you understand? We want a man who is expected here tonight, and we want to stop any message being sent out to warn him against coming. We will see to the telephone ourselves."

The young man ambled off. He stopped to beg a flag from the chauffeur, and during those few moments, he passed on to both the message he had received. According to our arrangement, I presented myself alone at the swing doors of the club. A commissionaire blocked my further progress.

"I beg your pardon, sir," he said gruffly, "but are you a member of the club?"

"I am not," I acknowledged, "but I wish to have a word with the secretary."

His hand fell heavily upon my shoulder. He was a Goliath, but I affected to hesitate.

"I have a friend outside," I confessed.

"Well, out you go to him," was the brusque reply. "You're not wanted in here. Manager's orders."

The swing doors revolved once more, and Bloor stood by my side.

"What's the trouble?" he inquired.

"This fellow won't let me in."

"Not you nor your friend neither," the man declared. "Out you go, both of you. I don't want your card," he went on, as Bloor produced one. "If you're not out of here in ten seconds—"

Bloor slipped back his coat.

"If you don't wish for my card," he said, "let me tell you who I am, Inspector Bloor, of Scotland Yard. This gentleman is with me. Go and tell your secretary that we wish to see him."

The man turned reluctantly away. A few yards from us, he paused, and seemed about to enter the dancing room. Bloor moved across to him swiftly.

"Straight to the secretary's room," he ordered. "If you want to keep out of trouble, my man, you want to see the law."

After that, there was no further delay. The door of the office through which I had passed was opened, and a middle-aged man came hurriedly out.

"What's the trouble, Inspector?" he asked.

"None, I hope," Bloor answered. "I wish to make a few investigations here. We should like to go straight to your office."

The secretary turned towards me.

"Delighted to assist you in any way, Inspector," he said, "but this gentleman has been struck off the rolls of the club."

"He was never a member," was my companion's curt reply. "At present he is accompanying me. If you are wise, you will make no further difficulties."

The secretary stood his ground.

"You know that he costs 40 shillings and costs this morning, sir?"

"Quite enough of that. Show us the way to your office."

The secretary led us there, mumbling to himself.

Bloor walked slowly around the office, tapping the walls here and there, even lifting the carpet in places. Finally, he seated himself at the secretary's table.

"Really, sir," the latter remonstrated, "I protest."

Suddenly the room was plunged into darkness. All that I could see was the glow from the end of Bloor's cigar.

Then I heard his hand hit the desk and the sound of a scuffle, and from the altered position of his cigar, I knew that he had risen to his feet.

The lights blazed on again. The secretary was on his back on the carpet. He rose, trembling with agitation.

"This is extraordinary behavior, Inspector," he exclaimed. "I shall telephone headquarters at once."

"You will probably save me the trouble of doing so in a few minutes," Bloor rejoined calmly. "Now, if you're a sensible man, you'll answer my questions. What is your name?"

"Cranford."

"That's a lie to begin with," Bloor rapped out. "Your name is Ernest Rees. You were liable for prosecution two years ago in the Messor case, but we let the matter hang over."

"Not another word, sir," the man begged, in a completely altered tone. "What do you want me to do?"

"Answer my questions. How long have you been here?"

"Seven months."

"Was it through Mr. Leopold you got the post?"

"Yes."

"Now listen. Why is there a control here under my chair, turning out every light in the room, and another to switch them on again?"

"It was there when I came, sir. They use it to get rid of anyone they don't want in the club."

"How is that managed?"

"Dope, sir, I believe. I can't explain. I am always sent out of the room when that sort of thing is on."

"It was used last night when Major Owston came in?"

"I believe so, sir."

"Do you know by whose orders?"

"By Mr. Leopold's, sir. He is a member of the committee."
